'Mmf...I Like...Mff... Skating With Children'

Barbara Ann Scott is looking forward to tonight's and subsequent ice shows here, because she loves to skate with children. There will be 500 of them in the Ice Capers show at the Arena. Although she loves to skate with them, Barbara Ann has no plans for any of her own, as yet. Her career is much too complicated by travel to allow time for romantic entanglements, she says. Victoria welcomed the famous star with sandwiches at Empress Hotel reception late Wednesday night. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

BARBARA ANN GLAD TO BE 'HOME'

City Gift for Famous Ice Star, As Puppy Wriggles Into Welcome

BY PETE LOUDON
A Chihuahua pup, two little girls, one successful autograph hunter and several hundred Victorians greeted Barbara Ann Scott at the City Hall at noon today.
The world-famous ice star accepted a white leather-bound souvenir book from Mayor Claude Harrison, bouquets from most famous young lady in Canada was marked with a smattering of "very British" dis- creet and proper applause in the best Empress Hotel tradi- tion.

In less refined centres, blar- ning bands, screaming crowds, timorous flower girls and red- coated mounties greet her ar- rival.
The Empress lobby ovation didn't shake loose a petal from the potted geraniums.

NEW CROSSWORD CONTEST STARTS IN FRIDAY TIMES

The thousands of crossword puzzle fans who read the Times will have an opportunity to test their wits and earn some pocket money besides through a Crosswords Contest starting in the Times tomorrow.
There will be a prize of $25 each week which can accumulate into a jackpot if no one gets the correct solution. The first crossword appears in Friday's paper and fans will find it fascinating to match their skill against the maker of the puzzles who has deliberately allowed for alternate answers to the clues. This means some concentrated thinking to get the right one.
Watch for it tomorrow!—It's fun! It can be profitable.

Election Announcement To Be Made Next Week

Princely Danish Tippler Must Walk, King Rules

COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—A traffic cop can't pinch a member of the Royal Family in Denmark, but police got orders Wednesday to keep Prince Rene off the road for 12 months anyhow.

The order had to come direct from King Frederick because Royal personalities are exempt from ordinary law. Prince Rene de Bourbon Parma, the king's cousin by marriage, had a few too many cherry brandies recently, police said, and:

1. Backed his car into another on a crowded Copenhagen street.
2. Drove off in the other direction and crashed into the side of a second car.
3. Swung around and zoomed down the street into a third pileup.

A police complaint to the king-brought today's ban.

House of Death Victims Known

Macabre London Murders Promise To Rank With Worst in History

LONDON (CP)—Scotland Yard today identified the half-decomposed bodies of four women found hidden in a shabby London tenement during the last two days.

1. Pretty Hectorina Maclean, 25, who came to London from her village in Scotland four years ago and went to work as a maid.
2. Blonde Kathleen Maloney, 19, who once lived in a convent school near Plymouth—described by relatives as "a wild girl."
3. Mrs. Ethel Christie, 45, wife of the shy, soft-spoken clerk, 55-year-old John Reginald Christie.
4. A London woman, aged 25, Police withheld her name, but said her relatives will come to the morgue to see her body this afternoon. Police said she was six months' pregnant.

Detectives today were still ripping up floorboards and searching for more hidden panels but they said they did not expect to find any more bodies.
Police in all parts of the British Isles, meanwhile, are on the lookout for John Christie, dapper, 35-year-old mystery man who lived for 15 years in the seamy little tenement apartment in London's rundown Notting Hill district.

RECALLS TESTIMONY
The gruesome discovery recalled testimony of a 1949 murder defendant who tried to link Christie with the strangling of a woman and child in the same house. Christie denied the accusations and the defendant, the woman's husband, was executed.

The latest rash of murders promised to rank in British annals with the horror-crimes of last century's Jack the Ripper, mutilator of street women, and John George Haigh, a killer who drank the blood of his female victims through a straw and dissolved their bodies in acid.

NOT SURPRISED
Miss Scott was not taken aback... she has been in Victoria before. She later told reporters she had stopped overnight here in 1942, had a cold March ride on a trolley, heard the driver describe the beauties of this city... as they would be in May.

The unaffected, blonde, doe-eyed beauty will appear Thursday, "Friday and Saturday with the Ice Capers of '53 at 8:30 p.m., with a Saturday matinee at 2:30 p.m. She arrived in company of another famous Canadian skater, Michael Kirby, and English ice-comedian Jans Tors. Barbara and Michael have been starring with the Hollywood Ice Revue which closed in Cincinnati earlier this month. Jan comes here direct from England.

Barbara Ann, who wore a corsage of roses presented her between planes by the Vancouver Skating Club, said she is glad to be skating in Canada again. "After all, it is home!" she added.

SHE WAS HUNGRY
While Miss Scott munched sandwiches, Michael Kirby described how he and the glamorous Barbara Ann had first become skating partners in London, England, in 1950.

Michael has been with the Hollywood Ice Revue for six seasons.
Tall, dark and handsome, Kirby is married, and has four youngsters. His wife, the former Nora McCarthy, is a Canadian ice-champ also and skated here in 1941. Mike skated here before, too, in 1942. He has been 10 years a professional now, wants to try his hand at producing ice shows next.

Jan Tors, the English comic, has skated in five countries in the last year, says Canadians, who crowd the ice-professions in England, talked him into coming over here.

British Paper Wants to See Windsor Home

Death of Queen Reconciliation Cue

LONDON (AP)—As Britain prepared to bury beloved Queen Mary, Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said today the death of the regal matriarch is a cue for her eldest son, the Duke of Windsor, to return to England to live.

"Let the mourning end his exile," declared the heading over an Express editorial. The Duke is in England, having cut short a Florida vacation to rush to his mother's bedside when her fatal illness was first announced. The Duchess remained in New York. She has never been received at court since the Duke gave up the throne 16 years ago to marry her. Most observers consider Queen Mary—a stickler for conventions—at the bottom of the boycott. The editorial did not mention the Duchess, the former Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore.

In a moving tribute to the Queen grandmother, who died Tuesday night at 85, Prime Minister Churchill declared she "was loved and revered far and wide, as perhaps nobody has been since Queen Victoria."

RED CROSS TOTAL $55,719
Red Cross campaign total reached $55,719 at noon today, 79 per cent of the $70,500 target. Officials said anyone overlooked by the canvassers can mail their donation to Red Cross House, 1046 Fort Street, or phone B7119 and a canvasser will call.

WILL LIVE LONG
Queen Mary will long live mellow and gracious in all our memories and in the annals of these tumultuous times," the 78-year-old government chief said in a broadcast Wednesday night to the Commonwealth. The address, heard also in the United States, termed her "this last great link with Queen Victoria's reign."

Messages of condolence flowed into the royal court from throughout the world as preparations for Queen Mary's funeral Tuesday and the June 2 Coronation of her granddaughter, Queen Elizabeth, went forward.

The old Queen will be buried at a private service in beautiful St. George's Chapel at Windsor Castle, the final resting place of English Kings and Queens since Tudor times. Her body will be placed in a tomb on the south aisle of the chapel beside that of her husband, King George V.

Before the service the body will lie in state in historic Westminster Hall adjoining the Houses of Parliament. It will be placed on the same purple catafalque that only 13 months ago held the coffin of her son, King George VI.

Queen Mary will be the first royal consort of modern times to lie in state at the hall. For hundreds of years, the aged building—famous for its 700-year-old hand-carved, hammer-beam oak roof—has been reserved for such homage to reigning monarchs only.

Her body will be taken to the hall Sunday in procession from the chapel in the grounds of her London home, Marlborough House.

'Angel Face' Hacks Up Butcher Beau
VIENNA, Austria (UP)—A 24-year-old nightclub hostess with "the face of an angel" was sentenced to life imprisonment Wednesday night for hacking her butcher-lover to death with a meat cleaver and a sausage knife.

Blonde Adrienne Eckhardt, pregnant and unwed, was convicted in criminal court here of murdering Hans Arthold, wealthy black marketer who she said, was the father of her unborn child.

Remains of Arthold's body were found last Nov. 21 in his butcher shop in the American sector of Vienna. The prosecution said Miss Eckhardt had hacked him 40 times with a meat cleaver, then slit his throat with a knife after testing its blade on a sausage.

Miss Eckhardt, who allegedly sold narcotics as a nightclub sideline, was arrested after a bus conductor identified her as the "angel-faced blonde" he saw in Arthold's company.

Legislature Session Ends Friday Night

By GORDON FORBES, Times Legislative Reporter

The B.C. Legislature will be dissolved next Monday or Tuesday and a provincial general election called for about June 8.

This was clear today from comments of party leaders involved in the political crisis following defeat of the minority Social Credit government Tuesday night.

Because the formal steps for the election have yet to be taken, the official announcement has not been made.

However sources close to both Premier Bennett and CCF leader Harold Winch today indicated that the danger of a further constitutional crisis has passed. Mr. Winch's offer to form a government in Mr. Bennett's place will be turned down and the election as proposed by Premier Bennett will take place.

In a series of conferences Wednesday the leaders of all five political groups in the House agreed to resume the session to pass 52 non-controversial items of legislation and an interim supply bill to carry on the country for six months.

"We hope that prorogation can take place tomorrow night," Premier Bennett said today.

The House resumed its sitting—interrupted one day out of respect for the late Queen Mary—this afternoon and will sit again tonight and tomorrow.

Socreds To Have 48 Candidates
Premier Bennett refrained from a definite announcement of the election—since the dissolution order has yet to be placed before the lieutenant-governor, but he said:

"If an election is held the Social Credit party will have candidates in every riding."

He declared that if the Social Credit wins the election, as he expects, it will call another session in the late summer or early fall to complete its legislative program.

"People now realize that minority government cannot operate," he said. "We gave it a try, but it did not work."

The Premier declared that the 52 bills which will be passed without debate will enable the public works program to go ahead and all ordinary business of government to function.

However the government's other plans will be held up. So far as municipalities are concerned this means, he said, they will have to revise their budgets because they will lose a $2,500,000 benefit in school grants under the Rolston formula this year.

CCF leader Winch's bid for the premiership failed because he could not command the necessary 25 votes to control the Legislature.

Mr. Winch has not been given a promise of support from the important six-man Liberal bloc which holds the balance of power.

Without these six votes, the CCF leader will not be considered for the premiership.

Non-Controversial Bills Discussed
The opposition leader claims he now has the promised support of 21 members, 18 in his own group, Independent Labor MLA Tom Uphill, Fernie, and two others. He has not identified the other two.

Meanwhile, the House is sitting today to work on the non-controversial bills.

Premier Bennett at first was reluctant to allow any further consideration of bills, but it is reported he was persuaded by opposition party leaders.

This agreement gave the first definite hint that the CCF group was not to be called on to form a government.

Mr. Winch apparently had given up hope, observers pointed out, because he wouldn't have agreed to proceed with certain legislation, framed by his bitter enemies, if he expected to step into the premiership.

The meeting of leaders agreed to approve non-controversial legislation, but decided any bills involving taxation would not be touched.
None of the bills to go before the House will be debated. They all will go through in mechanical fashion.

Chief among the legislation to be left in abeyance will be the new education financing system, which toppled the government, a new "drinks-by-the-glass" liquor system, increase in the sales tax exemption on meals, new taxation on forestry and mining.

The House will approve Vancouver's new city charter, Victoria's by-law to smooth out debt charges, higher pensions for teachers, retired civil servants and municipal employees, banning of dairy product substitutes, relaxation of garnishee laws.

Municipalities will continue to operate under the old school financing system, which means they will still get the one-third share of the revenue from sales tax. This will necessitate revision of budgets throughout the province.

The large road program, a new boys' industrial school near Nanaimo, new schools, hospitals, courthouses and other public buildings will not be affected by the upset in government.

Tories to Contest 47 of 48 Seats
VANCOUVER (BUP)—A spokesman for the Progressive Conservative party says the Tories will contest 47 seats in the next provincial general election, failing to enter a candidate in only the Fernie riding represented by Independent laborite Tom Uphill.

Other political parties have not yet announced plans regarding the number of seats they expect to contest.

Williams Handled His Plane Like His Bat
Eyewitness Tells How Boston's Famous Batter Crashed Jet

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Graham, writing in The New York Journal-American, said in his column today that Ted Williams, famous Boston Red Sox slugger, told a friend before leaving for Korea that he expected to be killed—but "I'm going to give it a battle."

Graham also quoted a letter written by Joe Giammo, Jr., son of a department store (Macy's) salesman that described vividly landing in his jet fighter. The letter follows:

"Well, Mom and Dad, this day of February 16, 1953, in Suwon, Korea, I'll always remember. Today I witnessed something great... about a pilot in the U.S. Marine Corps. This morning about 11, while working in the weather station a very alert person yelled:

Thet ol' mansion on Foul Bay Road wasn't th' only House 't git burnt up this week, eh fellers?

Now they've defeated th' gov'mint, looks like th' Legislature's settlin' down 't business.

Bet Barbara Ann c'd git elected in any province.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

EDUCATION AND EXAMS

THAT EVER-RECURRING subject of controversy—education and what it implies—has been to the fore in the Legislature recently, and once again the debate has emphasized the varying views that are held as to what should be incorporated in the public school system.

But, for the first time in years, little was said on the subject of school reports. In previous sessions the mere mention of reports brought into play the two schools of thought—those who believe in the value of examinations to determine the pupil's progress and those who subscribe to the newer system of promotion on recommendation.

HAD ITS PLACE

As I have pointed out many times before, my views on education do not always conform with the more modern theories, some of which seem to be based on the belief that youth must be given the maximum of fun and the minimum of grief in his—or her—educational preparation for life.

The modernists talk glibly in the psychological jargon of the day about strains, tensions and frustrations that beset youth in this atomic age, and imply that schooldays should be made easier for youngsters in consequence.

VALUE OF EXAMS

When it comes to examinations, I happen to share the old-fashioned view that one virtue of examinations is that they are a part of the self-disciplinary processes so essential to education in the fullest sense. Many people, of course, will disagree and maintain that examinations are not a fair test of scholastic ability.

But that view, it seems to me, misses what is perhaps the important thing about examinations and about the business of effective living. Whatever other purpose they serve, these tests do three things which are vital lessons for life.

VITAL LESSONS

In the first place they impose a measure of discipline of mind and of body, something of which humanity is becoming notoriously short, as today's newspapers make abundantly clear. They teach wide and profitable apportionment of time. They also train young people in meeting crises—for an examination is a crisis, as anyone who comes in contact with students knows.

And we cannot escape the realization that from birth to death, man's personal and business life is a series of crises, a series of major events calling for perception, judgment, knowledge and wisdom. The business of learning how to pass examinations of any kind is useful training for the business of living in this complex world.

SCIENCE AND SCHOOL

I shared some of these thoughts with an older teacher the other day and he felt, with me, that examinations had a place in the process of learning. But he smilingly observed that education generally was undergoing such radical changes that, in a few years, youngsters might be examined by machine, if certain current manifestations were developed to a logical conclusion.

And he mentioned that the robot was taking over from the teacher, even in some cases where exams were still the rule, for scientists had invented a machine which marks school examination papers.

LIKE AN AUTOMAT

We both laughed at the suggestion that this might well provide Junior with a new excuse for a bad report: If he failed or did too badly in some subjects it was because someone had forgotten to oil the machine! All of which reminds me of a poem written by an American educationist several years ago which summed up the education of the future:

"In the golden age of the future, teaching will be a snap:

Learning a painless process—with leisure for all to nap.

"Nary a child will fail in language, math or art, For science, great and glorious, will make them all too smart.

"If someone is low in geography, we'll give him geography pills; 'Twill be vitamin this and vitamin that and capsule cure for ills.

"There will be no homework then, though there may be extra fees For special IQ shots to raise the C's and D's.

"What with test correcting machines and lamps with discipline rays; Teachers won't work or worry as they did in the good old days.

"Yes, science will do great things and school be an automat; In the golden age a mechanic will sit where the teacher sat."

Top Security Measures Still Protect Gouzenko

OTTAWA (BUP)—Igor Gouzenko, a former Russian cipher clerk who fled the Soviet embassy in 1946 and ignited the celebrated spy trials, apparently has been guaranteed lifetime protection by the government.

Justice Minister Stuart Garson informed the House of Commons Wednesday that top secret security measures adopted six years ago to guard Gouzenko would not be relaxed.

Gouzenko has been protected by the RCMP since he disclosed the existence in Canada of a Russian-sponsored spy ring. His movements, work and home have remained secret and his only contact with the public in his own name has been through letters handled by the RCMP. Gouzenko lives incognito with his family "somewhere in Canada."

John Diefenbaker (PC, Lake Centre), in a question on the Commons order paper, asked if Gouzenko's safety was assured by police or other protective agencies, and if there had been any suggestion that present protection was to be relaxed.

Garson said he had discussed the question with Diefenbaker who had agreed that "under all circumstances" it should not be answered. The justice minister's reply was regarded as assurance that Gouzenko was still under the protective arm of the RCMP and that his safety was important enough that it should not be discussed in parliament.

Eisenhower, Mayer Review Red Menace

Anti-Aggression Measures Topic Of 3-Day Parley

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower and French Premier Rene Mayer headed aboard the yacht Williamsburg today to discuss joint strategy for dealing with the Communist menace on the battlefield in Indo-China and the cold war front in Europe.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault headed a glittering array of top military, diplomatic and financial advisers summoned to the conference.

Congressional leaders included Sen. Robert A. Taft and chairman Alexander Wiley of the Senate foreign relations committee were invited to join them later at lunch.

Informed sources said the three-day series of talks would cover a wide range of problems—strategy in the Indo-Chinese war, French requests for more U.S. aid, France's delay in approving the European army agreement, and the implications of the change in Soviet leadership.

"How we can best defeat aggression will be an essential part of our talks," Mayer said on his arrival late Wednesday. Mayer followed British officials in the parade of free world leaders hurrying to Washington to establish a personal contact with the president and his new administration. West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is the next scheduled visitor.

Pavlukoff Not Killer Youth Says

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A 19-year-old youth who was a 14-year-old grocery store delivery boy when Vancouver bank manager Sidney Petrie was fatally wounded in 1947 electrified the Assize Court trial of Walter Pavlukoff Wednesday when he said Pavlukoff was not the gunman who entered the Kitsilano district bank.

The youth, Conrad Gunn, contradicted the evidence of three earlier witnesses who were positive Pavlukoff was the man, and added weight to the doubt of still more witnesses as the key point of identification dominated the trial in its third day.

Conrad recalled the man he saw fleeing from the bank had "very long hair," a shallow complexion, "with deep-set features" and high cheekbones.

Asked by defense counsel whether Pavlukoff was the man, the youth replied, "I would say that that is N-O-T the man I saw."

Petrie was shot in the abdomen when he refused to heed the gunman's warnings in the abortive hold-up.

Canada exported $117,185,000 worth of fish and fish products in 1952, a slight drop from 1951.

PEARSON WARNS AGAINST OPTIMISM

Minister Challenges Russia to Show Peace Intentions By Accepting Indian Korea Plan

TORONTO (BUP)—External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson challenged Russia Wednesday night to show its peaceful intentions by accepting the Indian plan for a Korean cease-fire.

Pearson, president of the United Nations General Assembly, said the western world needed "solid proof of peaceful intentions from the leaders of the Soviet world."

He said this could be achieved if Russia accepted the Indian resolution calling for a Korean cease-fire, release of prisoners, and a Far Eastern political conference.

"There are many trouble spots—and Korea is the most important—where that proof could be given, now," Pearson said. If the Indian plan had not been rejected by the Communists, he said, there would have been a cease-fire in Korea "months ago."

The governments of the free world should give joyous welcome to any genuine move toward peace and the easing of tension, from whatever source it comes," Pearson said. "But we must be sure that it is that before we can begin rejoicing."

Pearson spoke to an anniversary dinner of Yorkminster Baptist Church and said there were no grounds for "easy optimism or complacency" in world affairs at present.

Earlier, the external affairs minister told the Liberal Business Men's Club of Toronto that

Allore Cashed Cheque Kickback Probe Told

Saskatchewan Insurance Manager Got Cash for Rawluk's $90 Cheque

REGINA (CP)—William George, Regina club steward, told the Crown corporations committee Wednesday night he cashed a $90 cheque signed by J. O. Rawluk, for M. F. Allore, general manager of the Saskatchewan government insurance office.

The cheque is referred to in an affidavit sworn by Mr. Rawluk last May, which the committee is now investigating.

The affidavit alleges that on Jan. 26, 1951, Mr. Rawluk gave Mr. Allore $153. Of this, $63 was in cash and the balance of $90 was a cheque. The affidavit said the cheque was endorsed by Mr. Allore and also was endorsed by a William George.

The affidavit alleges that Mr. Rawluk's firm, Financial Agencies, Ltd., paid commission kickbacks to Mr. Allore and provincial treasurer C. M. Fines on business placed through the company by Mr. Allore. Mr. Fines and Mr. Allore have denied the charges.

India Votes Big $419,664,000 Defense Budget

NEW DELHI (AP)—The Indian parliament today approved a 1,938,400,000-rupee ($419,664,000) defense budget for 1953-54.

Prime Minister Nehru, who is also defense minister, praised India's "astonishing progress" in scientific and technological development in the defense field.

"The most important job we face is building up our defense, industrial potential and training the inventive genius of our scientists," he said.

Nehru defended the use of British officers in the Indian armed forces and promised that the air force, now commanded by Air Marshal G. E. Gibbs, a Briton, will "be 100 per cent under Indian officers by the end of this year."

Old Baldy Lost To China Reds

American Troops Abandon Key Ridge to Powerful Foe Forces

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR

SEOUL (AP)—American troops abandoned Old Baldy today to the victorious Chinese.

Under cover of darkness, U.S. 7th Division infantrymen pulled out, leaving only Reds and death on the barren hill 11 miles west of Choswon. It was the worst beating for United Nations troops since they were thrown off the Kumhwa ridges five months ago.

Associated Press correspondent Stan Carter quoted a 7th Division officer as saying: "Now the Allied planes can plaster the whole hill."

The Chinese swept over the hill Monday night and U.S. counterattacks Tuesday and Wednesday got nowhere.

Both sides have taken bitter losses in the slugging match for the red-dirt peak overlooking the Injin valley gateway to Seoul. The 8th Army said the Reds lost 1,859 men—including 143 counted dead and 434 believed killed—in the first two days. U.S. casualties were not announced.

As dawn broke today U.S. planes began battering Baldy with 1,000-pound bombs. Artillery made the hill a smoking mess.

CHINESE UP THERE
AP photographer George Sweers, watching from a nearby hill, said: "It didn't look as if anything could live above the ground."

But the Chinese were up there on the bare peak, some dead and wounded, others probably deep inside bunkers and trenches that had sheltered American and Colombian soldiers when the Red wave struck.

When questioned by committee counsel E. C. Leslie, QC, Mr. George said he did not recall the cheque until he saw a photograph of it a few days ago which D. G. McLeod, Mr. Allore's counsel, showed him. Mr. George said he did not know where the cheque was cashed. He said he had not cashed any other cheques for Mr. Allore. However, he thought he might have spoken to the manager of the Shamrock Social Club, at which he was club steward, to tell him it was all right to cash cheques for Mr. Allore.

THE REST OF THE STORY
There are two reasons why Black Magic chocolates are worth writing home about. First, those really luscious centres were chosen by 3,000 people from literally hundreds of different chocolates. And then there are no better chocolates made than Black Magic, at any price. This is because Rowntrees put all the value into the chocolates themselves, packaging them simply, but elegantly, in a smart black box.

Russians Map New Chinese Aid Program

Would Boost Mao's Heavy Industry

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviets today charted a new aid program for Communist China to boost their Red ally's heavy industry. In return, the Peiping government will send raw materials to Russia.

Moscow papers announced that a new agreement and two protocols concerning the program were signed here recently in the presence of the Chinese premier-foreign minister, Chou Enlai. He came to Moscow early this month as head of the Chinese delegation to the funeral of the late Joseph Stalin.

Russia promised to help increase China's electric power capacity by expanding existing power plants and building new ones. Other assistance will be provided in equipping Chinese metallurgical, mining, machinery, chemical, transport and other industries.

The Soviet Union also will supply China with agricultural machinery, pedigree cattle and seeds.

As her part of the bargain, China will ship here light metals, rice, vegetable oils, meat, oil seeds, tobacco, tea, fruit, wool, jute, raw silk, silk textiles, leather and other goods.

ADDLED MOSLEM ASKS FAVOR OF AMERICA'S KING

WINNIPEG (BUP)—The "king of America" studied a letter from a Moslem today asking him to help out the Moslems of India.

The letter came from India and was signed by a resident of the district of Sendhwa Madhya Bharat. He asked the king to use his wide powers as Moslems of "all the dominions of the world" would be exempted from having to pose for passport pictures.

Cominco Profit Down $18 Million From 1951

MONTREAL (CP)—Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada Ltd. had net profit for 1952 of $32,838,434, compared with $50,785,381 in 1951, a decrease of $17,946,947.

The annual report comments: "Compared with 1951, labor costs were higher, but the cost of operating supplies showed no appreciable increase. While fertilizer prices showed a moderate increase, the selling prices for lead and zinc were substantially lower."

"In addition, the unfavorable change in the Canadian-U.S. dollar exchange rate, together with the power shortage experienced during the last few months of the year, had an adverse effect on earnings."

Provision for income and mining taxes was $19,200,000, compared with $29,400,000; provision for depreciation was $6,415,985, compared with $5,114,336; and dividends paid totaled $27,027,345, compared with $36,035,666.

Current assets were $95,866,941, down $36,872,034, and current liabilities were $29,599,525, down $16,135,198, indicating working capital of $66,267,406, down $20,736,836.

Net expenditures during the year on property, buildings and equipment was $31,870,863.

Party Before People

ON TUESDAY EVENING PREMIER BENNETT accomplished the defeat of his fledgling Social Credit government. That was the target at which he had aimed consistently since the session began. He wanted another election and sought dissolution.

Mr. Bennett had headed a minority government. It existed only on Liberal suzerainty. Under such circumstances, its tasks were not easy, but it was given the opportunity to carry on the public business of British Columbia for the general welfare of the people.

The latter was the responsibility Mr. Bennett accepted with the role of premier he sought so eagerly following the last election. After seven weeks of the session how has he discharged that responsibility?

Up to the time of Tuesday evening's decisive vote, one measure only was finally passed. It furnished assistance to victims of British floods and represented the will of the entire legislature.

That is the one positive item on the record.

On the negative side has been the premier's determined stand against co-operation—co-operation he was offered by the Liberals on orthodox legislation that did no violence to their principles, and co-operation he might have expected elsewhere on certain other matters of benefit to the public.

Mr. Bennett chose to reject that offer. By taunts, jibes and eventually by sheer wilfulness he sought to bring about his government's defeat. When he makes his next approach to the people, that point cannot be ignored. Even at the eleventh hour he was asked by opposition members to avoid a showdown vote in order to permit action on non-contentious matters.

Under the insistence of other party leaders some measures of a non-controversial nature will be taken in the next day or two to meet.

essential needs. The opportunity to carry out such a program of necessary legislation had existed before the government's defeat.

Mr. Bennett placed his own political interests before that consideration. As a result, measures of importance to the province had been left incomplete. Perhaps, in his opinion, that was a small price to pay for achieving his goal—defeat of his government. The voters of British Columbia must render judgment, in due course, on that action.

Major and minor items—revision of liquor laws and the half-hinted move to give Victoria a capital city grant among them—lost definition because the chance to act upon them has been declined by the government. They are in a state of suspended animation because Mr. Bennett refused to accept a stay of execution for his administration.

True, certain other measures might have met the same fate as did the Rolston formula bill. There nevertheless remained a wide area of legislation—legislation now to be handled in the resumed sittings—which need not have provoked the defeat of the government.

That apparently carried little weight with the government. It consciously sought defeat just as Mr. Bennett has consciously worked to avoid co-operation.

In sober consideration of the results of this strategy, the voter of British Columbia will note that the Social Credit government, having accomplished nothing but the flood-aid gift, has committed itself only by word to any program. It has, with intent or otherwise, dodged out from under the responsibility of government.

There can be no question left in the voters' mind over the deliberate manner in which the Social Crediters courted defeat. The warnings had been explicit. They were understood. Mr. Bennett clearly expected the result of the vote on which he insisted.

A Decision of the Crown

THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR of British Columbia is faced this week with a question of historic proportions. His answer may well be heard in repetition in the federal and provincial fields of this country for many years to come.

The constitutional issue, as seen by this newspaper in the light of the precedent arising from the well-known case involving Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Governor-General Viscount Byng in 1926, is clear. Obviously the issue can only be raised when a minority government loses the support that kept it, for the time being, in power. Having been defeated in the House, a premier can apply to the Lieutenant-Governor for dissolution of the legislature, and call for a new election. The representative of the Crown then must decide if any group in the legislature can govern.

Obviously the just-defeated government group is disqualified. But some other minority group may assert its right to govern. To receive the Lieutenant-Governor's acquiescence this group must satisfy him that it can control the legislature—presumably through agreement with another group.

If it can give such an assurance, then the Lieutenant-Governor will call on the leader of the main group to form a government. If it cannot satisfy him of its competence, then he must dissolve the House to allow the people to voice their wishes.

The analogy in the present provincial crisis is obvious. If Mr. Which can show that he controls enough votes in the House to govern, then he should be given his opportunity. But he can only enjoy this control with the support of the six Liberals who held the balance of power.

Unless he can go to Government House with a Liberal undertaking to support him in any reasonable legislation he has not the constitutional right to ask for power. Granting it to him would only mean another immediate government defeat and a waste of time and money. And this undertaking Mr. Kenney, the Liberal house leader, has not given.

Standing by Their Guns

MR. BENNETT ACHIEVED nothing when, explaining his plea for a dissolution he announced: "The Liberals have broken faith. They promised to support us on reasonable legislation."

That statement, issued after his government had gone down to defeat on the Rolston formula motion the Liberals had said they would not support, is merely a plaintive and ingenious effort to fix on someone else the responsibility for his own action.

The Liberals did not break faith. They undertook merely to support the minority government on what they considered to be legislation which did not run contrary to their principles. They, the Liberals, were the only ones who could decide where the six-member bloc would draw the line.

Quite properly they informed Mr.

Bennett on that point before the vote was taken. What could be more explicit than Liberal Whip Straith's warning:

"We can't go along with the government on this bill. We think it is a vicious piece of legislation. It's retrogressive and nothing but political flim-flam."

The Liberals, demonstrating their sense of responsibility, had supported the government on other occasions after criticizing Social Credit proposals. In doing so, they were exercising their democratic right, and in the process they received a lot of abuse from the Social Crediters.

Confronted with a measure for which they could not honestly vote, they stated their position. There was nothing ambiguous about the declaration.

Any effort by the Premier to twist their meaning is mere petulance if nothing worse.

A Family Pride

VICTORIA JOINS ESQUIMALT in admiration of the proud record of the Buxton family, whose sons are now back on this continent and planning a reunion in the immediate future.

The six sons have been active in the services. Five are still in uniform, three have recently returned from Korea.

There are many homes in this community which have made their contribution to the forces, though not quite in the numbers of the Esquimalt household. As the latter are honored by friends today, so too, are those other families of Greater Victoria whose men have responded to the call of duty. To them free peoples owe a debt. They are the ones who have shown their willingness to set no price on the defense of the way of life Canadians cherish.

LOOSE ENDS

Britain in Revolution

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

LONDON—"What you North Americans don't really understand yet," said one of the best informed and most influential men in England, "is that we have been through a revolution in Britain. In about five years we have transformed our society. It will never be the same again. And at the moment we can't see the end. We only know we're going somewhere."

In Canada we have heard about socialism in Britain (and generally misunderstood it), we have read about the revolution, but the process itself cannot be put in printed words because it is essentially not a revolution in fact but in mind. And, of course, it is quite unique in human history—a society transformed without a drop of violent blood, not even a riot.

BUT THE REVOLUTION has exhausted itself and pauses now, wondering what to do next. That is the real meaning of the Labor Party's present confusion and split.

In office the Labor Party undertook what was called "socialism" but it never was socialism by any known definition. Apart from Bevan's left wing, there is in fact no socialism in England.

The Labor government nationalized a few industries, with different results, and that was the least part of its accomplishment. Its vital impact on British society was channelled through the existing, privately-owned economic system but was none the less profound for that. In a word, through expanding social services and a brutal tax system, Labor leveled British society, destroyed the rich for all practical purposes, impoverished the great middle class and left no poor, as poverty was understood before.

HISTORIANS WOULD CALL this a revolution of egalitarianism. Labor called it "fair shares." When you are told that only 60 persons in Britain can legally earn $18,000 a year, after taxes, you realize how far egalitarianism or fair shares have gone.

"Britain," as my informant said, "came out of the war mauled, tired and broke. As if the task of recovery were not enough, we then undertook to overhaul society from top to bottom. The double strain was a pretty formidable affair. The question then was whether society could stand it, whether the middle class, the core and governing mechanism of Britain, would break."

"Well, it didn't break. The rich had been liquidated by taxes, enough of them left to matter in political or in economic terms. The middle class decided that it had been left in pretty bad shape, but it wasn't as bad as it might have been and it accepted the revolution. The working class was given what it thought was security. And so we floundered through the revolution."

THE COST OF THAT PROCESS cannot be accurately reckoned in money. The destruction of the rich, the impoverishment of the middle class and the rise of the working class represented only a transfer of wealth within Britain. The real cost of the revolution lies elsewhere. What has it done to Britain's ability to produce wealth? How has it affected the future size of the newly-divided cake?

The main item of cost can now be identified. It is the impairment, some people would say "destruction," of incentives to labor and production. In other words, nobody has much left after paying taxes, and therefore has little reason to enterprise, to work harder, to produce more and to save.

ALL THIS the real leaders of the Labor party understand as well as Winston Churchill. They carried out their five-year plan and then ran clean out of ideas. The Labor Party has no policy today and cannot find one. Bevan has a policy of outright socialism but the Labor party is not socialist. It is dominated by the trade unions and they do not want a socialist, government-controlled state because in such a state, of course, there would be no room for free labor unions. They could not strike against the new boss.

Hence socialism, in the form of nationalized industries, has reached a dead end, or become at most a ceremonial gesture to satisfy the left wing. The Labor party is quarreling in opposition because its minority, under Bevan, is determined to carry the revolution to fair shares into actual socialism while the vast majority under the Attlees, Morrisons and Gaitskells is equally determined to maintain the status quo. It feels that the revolution has gone quite far enough and needs time to consolidate itself, to learn the management of the new egalitarian society; above all, to increase the general wealth of the nation.

CURRENT BRITISH POLITICS merely reflect these deep, organic facts of a revolution which, at the moment, has nowhere to go. The Conservative government, by general consent, could win an election this year but, by British custom, there can be no election in a year of coronation. The government wants an election as soon as possible in case the tide turns against it later and also because it wants a real majority, is tired of close divisions and constant alarms in Parliament.

The policy of the Conservative party is not to repeal the revolution, which is impossible, but somehow to make it work and, most of all, to restore incentives and increase national wealth. Its success or failure will largely determine the foreseeable future of this island and greatly affect the future of the whole free world.

DOES ALL THIS MEAN, I asked my informant, that British society will not move further to the left under the Conservative or Labor parties? It will not move to the left, he replied, short of an economic disaster and mass unemployment, which is not in sight. It will learn, by trial and error, to make the new society work, produce and prosper before it even considers any more fundamental changes.

"But," he repeated, "you North Americans must never think of Britain as the country you used to know. This is a new society, for better or worse, on the whole (and he was a very rich man) better, I think. Just the same, remember this also: The apparatus and management of society have changed. The people in their attitude towards life have hardly changed at all. That's why the revolution was peaceful, and why it paused this side of real socialism and totalitarianism. Short of disaster, it won't take Bevanism."

Europe Comes to Washington

BY WALTER LIPPMANN from Washington

THE leading members of the French government are in Washington today and in two weeks the German Chancellor will arrive. These are visible reminders that the United States is now deeply and actively concerned with the perennial question of Franco-German relations. For most of this violent and furious century Americans have been deeply involved in the failure to solve this question. The face of our civilization has been radically altered by this failure, and the personal lives of all of our generation, even at the remotest distances, have been bent and deformed by it.

No one can exaggerate the good that would follow from a true reconciliation between France and Germany, or the evil that would come upon us if they do not now at long last learn to live and work together. But no one should forget the breadth and depth of the problem, or that better and wiser men than we have worked and suffered over it.

What is the Franco-German question which America today must be so much concerned with? A practical way of approaching it is to ask ourselves why, since all are agreed that our objective is to bring France and Germany together, the heads of the two governments are not both coming here together.

REASSURANCE If, as so many in this country seem to suppose the Franco-German question is a matter of memories, feelings, nerves, pride and prejudice, then the obvious way to help to settle the question would be for Eisenhower and Churchill to meet with Mayer and Adenauer and to talk it out and to reassure one another.

The day may come when such a meeting might be worth considering. No one is thinking of it today, and everyone is taking it for granted that though the object is to bring France and Germany together in a European system, there is hard business to be done which has to be done separately.

Why separately? Because France is a world power, called upon to play a leading role in Asia, in Africa, in the Mediterranean and in Europe. Germany, on the other hand, is a disarmed, partitioned, and occupied nation without interests, rights or responsibilities outside of continental Europe.

The Franco-German question today is how France and Germany are to become partners in the common defense and progress of Europe when their fundamental positions in the world are so very different. The question is not insoluble. But only those who do not understand the question are able to act as if it did not exist.

It is by no means a simple operation.

It is, on the contrary, as difficult a one as statesmen have ever attempted, to bring together, "to integrate" two states—the one representing only a part of its own nation and the other an empire and a global power.

The reason these visits are separate is at bottom that Federal Germany is not concerned with some of the most important business the U.S. has to transact with France. Federal Germany is not involved in the Far East as are France and the United States, nor in the Mediterranean and in Africa. Yet what France can do in Europe, and also what the United States can do in Europe, is conditioned by what both find it necessary to do outside of Europe.

That is the consideration which is at the bottom of French indecision about the European army. And no one is going to make any genuine advance—as distinguished from phony gestures—towards a Franco-German partnership who does not deal with it seriously and effectively.

For the French people are worried and nervous about the real problems—not imaginary problems—of their capacity to meet their worldwide commitments, and it is worse than mere concession to treat them as if they were having nightmares and delusions. Such treatment will succeed only in convincing the French people that their problems are not being understood, and that it is not safe to follow the leadership of those who do not understand their problems.

Only the Framework

As Our Readers See It

THE COUGARS

Well, what happened to our team? It certainly was not like Victoria, no appreciation for the boys even if we did not get into the playoffs. Our coach was overlooked on his birthday last week—no cake? There are going to be a lot of fans who have been loyal fans, who do a bit of thinking and waiting to see what the score is before they get a deal like this year.

After all the tickets are bought—and they are not too cheap—the fans expect something for their side too. In Strongman's last games, it would have been nice to show some little recognition for years of hard work.

Don't let the dollar spoil sport.
"A SEASON TICKET HOLDER."

WEDNESDAY CLOSING

The letter of Mr. A. G. Kinnis expresses the views of most sales clerks. We advocate a five-day week for stores. We are trying to get a five-day week with the least inconvenience and expense to our employer. We do not ask higher weekly pay or for signed working agreements because in the future our employer may need more hours of business, then they are free to have 44 hours per week.

As a sales clerk I would like to speak for store managers, department managers, assistant managers, all would have to work six days plus the paper work they do after business hours if six days were in effect. He claims a six-day week is a backward step, why not go further and have a five-day week, not stand still with the present system?

If the clerks were to have a five-day week with Wednesday closing, most clerks would have the incentive to press for that extra sale per day, stores would find their weekly sales increased with less operating costs and everyone would be in a happier frame of mind.

I hope this conveys our viewpoint; we are only asking co-operation from our employers for a five-day work week, which is in effect to 83 per cent of all workers. As workers we have to sell our labor to make a living, naturally we will sell it to those who offer the best overall conditions, whether it be retail, wholesale or industry.

PROPER TRAINING

Having paid school taxes for the last 50 years, without advantage to myself, I consider I have a right to express an opinion on this subject. If what we hear is true, then it is about time a clean-up is made on a system which is far from perfect. Our prison records alone will justify this assertion.

I am told that in the science classes young girls are taught the use of nail polish, in order to glamorize their hands. After this they are reluctant to put their hands in water. Ours is a pioneer country and we want people who will get out and fill the open spaces, to produce food for an ever-growing population.

Why, may I ask, do school children fear the law? Why are they not trained to look upon a policeman as their best friend, who will face danger at all times, in order to save their lives and property? We are told that children are encouraged to experiment with helpless rats who, while confined, are made to suffer the torments of hunger, thirst and terror. If this is so, then, like McDuff I would say: "Did heaven look on and would not take their part?"

This, however, is in keeping with the rest of our so-called civilization, which permits the use of steel traps to capture innocent little creatures, who are kept at times for weeks in a state of dreadful torture. All this in order to supply booze money for some unfeeling brute, or to satisfy the vanity of women.

One wonders how a woman can kneel before the communion table and take the sacrament while wearing furs, when she must know that every hair of the pelt has at some time or other quivered with agony.

DISAGREES

In your issue of Monday, March 23, Mr. W. F. Cressall denounces as ignorance that he says "shames" the speaker and reflects adversely upon the people who elected him, the M.L.A. who is reported to have quoted scripture. And your correspondent quotes at some length the late Lord Tweedsmuir, ending up with the statement that the Bible constitutes the hope of our future.

But Mr. Cressall has overlooked the fact that now all hope of any future and of its nature has had to be transferred from the Bible to the atomic and the hydrogen bomb. These, we are now told, constitute our only hope of survival as a British Commonwealth. And in consideration of his claim of the Bible "being the Word of God"—surely Mr. Cressall has overlooked the morbidity, the immorality, the ignorance, the contradictions contained in this conjunction of pagan concepts, or he would never have written that he accepted it as "The Word of God."

It is self-evident that the occurrences of every day prove there is no "God" who cares for human beings, and the Bible with its morbid concept of a "Hell" for even innocent babes—if it is the word of a god then what such a creature could be in himself, the human mind is utterly incapable of measuring or of understanding.

U.S. Diplomat Resigns Post On Threat of Investigation

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—The United States consulate here announced today that Charles W. Thayer, U.S. consul-general in Munich and a brother-in-law of Charles (Chip) Bohlen, has resigned from the foreign service after a new investigation into his diplomatic career was ordered.

Thayer, 43, plans to devote his full time to writing, the consulate press office announced. He is the author of books on his experiences as a diplomat in pre-war Moscow and post-war Belgrade.

Senator Joseph McCarthy, Rep., Wis., told the Senate Wednesday that Thayer had been ordered home "and is, I understand, to be discharged." Although McCarthy gave no reason, he said Thayer's activities when he was head of the Voice of America are "well known to the Senate." At the state department, however, department press officer Lincoln White said Thayer had resigned because he wanted to give his full time to writing. White said he did not know whether the resignation had been requested.

Canada's Roads Inadequate, Rotarians Told

Canada is traveling down a dead-end street and unless construction and modernization of roads and streets is stepped up to keep pace with the great increase in motor traffic the nation's economy and welfare will suffer. C. W. Gilchrist of Ottawa, managing director of the Canadian Good Roads Association, made these points at a luncheon meeting of the Victoria Rotary Club today.

Phony Expert

LONDON (CP)—A man posing as an expert on current events was hired by two government agencies for lectures here and abroad, it was disclosed in court where he pleaded guilty to nine counts of false pretences. The accused, who had only an elementary education, was given a year in jail.

ments of this new traffic," the speaker said, "and our inability to do so is proving very costly." Mr. Gilchrist said that new cars, trucks and buses are coming on to the roads at the rate of about 400,000 each year. If this rate continues the number of motor vehicles on the road will nearly double within the next 10 years and traffic congestion will be immeasurably worse than it is at present.

Inadequacy of highways is costing Canadians dearly in lost lives, damaged property and inconvenience. One Canadian is killed on the road every four hours, one person is injured every 15 minutes, a fender is smashed every two minutes. Last year "highway havoc" cost more than $100,000,000.

REALLY ANCIENT

OSLO, Norway (CP)—The Paleontological Museum here has opened a special exhibit to show the first prehistoric reptile ever found in Norway. The ichthyosaurus unearthed last summer in north Norway is the fossil of an animal estimated to be 120,000,000 years old.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE
RECORD TO DATE, 1953—
239.6 HOURS

SYNOPSIS: Moist air from the Pacific Ocean is causing widespread cloudiness and showers along the B.C. coast today. The large low pressure area over the Gulf of Alaska which has produced the unsettled weather is now almost stationary so that conditions Friday along the coast will remain much the same as today. Interior points are mostly clear but some cloudiness is expected there both today and Friday with a few light showers along the mountains in the afternoons.

DOMINION

Fishermen, Cannery Dispute Up for Test

Judge Joseph B. Clearhue will sit next week to arbitrate a dispute between fishermen and cannery operators.

The dispute, over prices to be paid for fall chum salmon, was referred to the County Court judge by the provincial government. A final ruling on the price to be paid for fish has been pending since last year when the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (UFAW) ended a strike and agreed to return to work for a provisional minimum price.

It was agreed at that time that the whole price question would be investigated at a future date and a final minimum price set.

The provisional minimum established prices of 8 cents, 6½ cents and 6 cents a pound in the three different fishing areas where the dispute occurred. The final minimum, to be set by Judge Clearhue, shall not be less than 7½ cents, 6 cents and 5½ cents a pound for the three districts, and not more than 9 cents, 8 and 8 cents for the areas concerned.

Londoners Enjoy End of Worst Winter in Years

LONDON (Reuters) — After being buffeted by almost every conceivable kind of weather in its most unpleasant winter on record, London found itself in a new and almost unheard of situation Wednesday.

It was the 34th day of a drought, longest spring dry spell the city has had in 60 years. And the weather forecasters were sure there was no change in sight.

Londoners discarded overcoats and a few reckless householders even sunbathed as the mercury reached 69 degrees.

Most felt it was about time they had such a break. For the half-year ending last month was the most consistently cold period in 65 years.

Ontario Cooks Won't Get Colored Oleo

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario housewives won't be able to buy colored margarine. The legislature defeated a private bill to legalize its sale in the province in a standing vote. Albert Wren (Lib.-Lab., Kenora), who introduced the bill, and three others supported the bill.

Mr. Wren said the problems of the dairy industry will never be solved by "discriminatory legislation."

Premier Frost and Liberal Opposition leader Farquhar Oliver both said partial protection is essential to the well-being of the dairy industry.

TRIES TO DIE BY BLASTING

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 69-year-old Chinese attempted suicide Wednesday night by exploding a dynamite cap in a wood-filled lard pail.

The attempt may have cost him his sight. Police said the man, Hong Gew, suffered severe facial lacerations.

The blast drove scores of splinters into Gew's face and body, shattering eight windows and knocked plaster from ceiling and walls of his suite.

Gew told police that he was depressed after an argument over a garden hoe.

Egg-Starved Britons To Buy 'Em by Dozen

LONDON (Reuters) — Millions of eggs were massed compactly in British shop windows Wednesday night like little soldiers waiting for zero hour.

Today they are free from rationing restrictions and the public, egg-starved since the beginning of the Second World War, will swoop upon them.

Customers instead of being doled out one, two, and sometimes three eggs per ration book, will be able to buy them by the dozen. Grocers say supplies are plentiful but there is strong conflict of opinion on how long supplies will hold out.

FISH GET LIT UP

OSLO, Norway (CP) — A Norwegian manufacturer now is marketing a new type of commercial fishing tackle which lures fish by means of a light radiating from a hollow sinker. The device was successfully tested during the cod fisheries in northern waters.

COTNOIR MAY APPEAR FOR ROYALS, BOMBERS

Jerry Cotnoir, Victoria Cougar goalie, is scheduled to appear between the pipes for New Westminster Royals when they meet Saskatoon Quakers in tonight's Western Hockey League playoff at the prairie city.

Cotnoir left by plane Wednesday night to replace Lucien Dechene, who is sidelined with an unknown ailment.

Seattle Bomber goalie, Bill Brennan, is also reported on the injured list and Cotnoir, spare goalie for the playoffs, may be forced to fly to Vancouver to play for Seattle against the Canucks Friday.

Kins Facing Rugged Task

Victoria Kins basketball club leaves by plane Friday for Vancouver, where they face the stern task of taking two games from Clover Leafs or bowing out of the B.C. basketball picture for this year.

STEELHEAD ANGLING HOT IN COWICHAN

DUNCAN—Steelhead fishing on the lower reaches of the Cowichan River has been exceptionally good this week.

Al Hawstow caught an 18½-pounder on fly, and Allan Gilmore, one of the younger fishermen, reported three of 17, 17½ and 18 pounds.

In this area fluorescent flies are being used. Big bait lures are golf tee and worm. Many fish are also being caught at Maple Bay and Crofton where pearl spoon and abalone were the most successful lures.

100-9 SHOT

Early Mist Aintree Favorite

LONDON (AP)—Early Mist, an eight-year-old to be ridden by one of England's top jockeys, remained a slight favorite today for Saturday's running of the Grand National steeplechase at Aintree.

The jumper is a 100-9 shot in a field expected to number 37. He will carry 15½ pounds and will be ridden by Bryan Marshall.

Little Dome is listed right behind the favorite at 100-8.

Meanwhile, owners and trainers continued to show concern over the condition of the famous two-mile course, baked hard by five weeks of dry weather. Trainers fear it will split a horse's hoof or jar loose his shoes after a jump.

The condition of the track has helped influence some withdrawals. Wot No Sun was dropped from the field Tuesday. Wot No Sun was third in last year's race.

The only United States entry, Old Kentucky, is a doubtful starter.

COAST LEAGUE EXHIBITION

Araujo Just One Step Away From Title Bout

CLEVELAND (UP)—Lightweight George Araujo, fresh from a blood-bath, 10-round decision over Teddy (Red Top) Davis, said today he wanted "just one more" before taking his promised crack at Jimmy Carter's world championship.

"I never got a chance to do anything against Davis," the Providence, R.I., fighter complained. "He never wanted to fight. I'm afraid I disappointed the crowd."

Araujo, a 2-1 favorite entering Wednesday night's nationally televised arena fight card, coasted to an easy decision over the Hartford negro. He won at least seven rounds on every judge's card. From the middle of the sixth, when an inside cut Davis' right eyebrow,

A LITTLE SCHIZOPHRENIA PERHAPS?

Doctor Puts Finger On Lip

NEW YORK (NEA)—Dr. David F. Tracy, baseball's practicing psychologist, puts the slug on Leo Durocher by declaring the Dandy Little Manager eventually will be banned from the game for life.

"His entire professional life—indeed, his entire life—has led to that inevitable climax," predicts the former St. Louis Browns' psychologist.

Just what Dr. Tracy has against the Giants' manager he doesn't precisely say, but judging from his remarks in a magazine article their relationship is far from companionable.

As both a sports fan and a clinical psychologist, Dr. Tracy has been actively interested in Durocher's behavior for a long time. Taking The Lip apart, he comes up with some startling conclusions.

Reds Held Hot Rivals For Hockey Supremacy

OSLO (CP)—Soms fans and sports writers here think the Russians may be the best hockey players in the world. The Canadians, they said, run a good second.

The question of whether the Russians are better players than Canadians is being strongly debated here since a Russian all-star team twice trounced Norway's national team, 10-2 and 8-0.

Previously, the Russians defeated Norway 7-0 and 3-1 in Moscow earlier this month.

The sports writers agree the Russians are playing a game totally different from most west European and American-Canadian teams.

They are technically skilled players but don't go much for body blocking. Their passes are always accurate.

Ice hockey has been played in Russia for only six years. The Russians stick close to the rules.

While the general practice in western countries is to rely on physical strength as well as technical skill, the Russians don't go in much for the rougher tactics.

Compared to the United States team which finished second to Canada in last year's Olympic tournament, the Reds look like a Sunday school team practicing on the ice.

As to their chances of beating the Canadians in a world championship match, opinions here differ.

Some writers feel the rougher Canadians would break up the Russians' game.

and crush them by sheer force. But there are others who think the Russians might be too smart.

Norway's goalkeeper, Per Dahl, who played in the Olympic tournament, said: "It is difficult to say whether the Russians are the world's best, but I believe the Canadians are the only ones with chances to defeat them. But if the Russians had a lucky start, and were able to score two or three surprise goals in the beginning, then the Canadians would be in trouble."

Eiler Girls Seeking Dominion Hoop Title

VANCOUVER (CP)—Coach Gordon McDonald and nine Vancouver Eilers were slated to leave here today on a trek they hope will again lead to the senior girls' Canadian basketball title.

First stop will be Calgary where the Eilers meet Wittichens in a two-game total-point series Friday and Saturday.

If they get by Wittichens, the Eilers meet Saskatoon Aldermans March 30-31.

If they're still winning, next port of call will be Winnipeg for a best-of-three series with the Manitoba champions. Then, finally, the Dominion final, in eastern Canada.

Annual Cup Tilt Near Rugger Riot

Vic High Wins to Hold Prized Cup

By GEOFF CONWAY

Rugby fans witnessed the revival of an old feud Wednesday when Victoria High Totems and Victoria College Vikings literally squared off in the annual rugby clash between the two schools for the Kiwanis Cup.

Victoria High School was the eventual victor by an 8-5 margin to retain the coveted trophy in a contest that saw both fifteens minus their two best backfield men and most of their sportsmanship.

College opened with 13 men and within five minutes were down to 12 as Jack MacMillan received a shoulder injury.

Shortly before time Vikings' Bob Cross followed suit, while John Skillings and Bob Zarzy of Vic High were ejected after a wild free-for-all in which everyone attempted a few punches.

Vic High held the edge in a scoreless first half and opened scoring in the second frame when John Skillings broke away and easily dodged the fullback to cross the line. His convert neatly parted the uprights to give Vic High a 5-0 lead.

College's retaliating drive appeared successful when speedy Gerry Rovers raced 30 yards through the opposition and fell over the line.

But the referee, who had a tough time watching play while simultaneously holding down outbreaks of temper, ruled a two bit kick and the already rough game became a paradox of rugby—especially so when the Vikings were awarded an easy penalty kick for a Vic High knock-on.

After spotting their opponents another three points on a penalty boot by Skillings, College hit the scoresheet when Rovers gathered in a cross kick by Stu Wright, who with Gary Webster provided most of College's punch, and weaved 45 yards to plant the ball in the end zone.

Rovers' convert closed out the scoring.

Flyers Grab Lead in B.C. Senior Puck

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Spokane Flyers skated to a 5-1 win over Pentiction V's Wednesday night in the opening game of the best-of-seven British Columbia senior amateur hockey final.

Flyers, champions of the Western International League, and V's, champions of the Okanagan Senior League, will meet in the second game here Friday night.

Spokane took a three-goal lead in the first period and Pentiction evened it up by rattling in three markers in the second.

Flyers took the win on two goals in the third before V's drew last blood at 14:16.

Another notch Wednesday when Bill Wisneski came through with a four-hitter in an inter-squad game played at Sonoma training camp.

Hurling for the Pries team and receiving steady support, with his teammates being charged with only one error, Wisneski posted a 9-1 decision over Garriott's squad.

Bill Prior and Manny Tornay took over mound duties for the Garriott team. Prior, recently returned from Portland, was tagged for 12 hits while his team committed three errors.

United Games Ruled Out By Soccer Brass

George Eade, Victoria United soccer team manager, announced today that he has been asked by the Coast Soccer League to advise all clubs the commission has ruled there will be no exhibition contests played in Victoria until further notice.

This nullifies plans to have St. Andrews here for an exhibition contest this week-end with United.

He also stated that he has not requested commission officials to postpone a scheduled Anderson Cup competition match on April 4.

Plans have been tentatively set for United to play an exhibition match here with Victoria West on April 3, after which they will move into cup competition next day.

Paddlers in 'B' Playoffs

Skyark Cafe and Strathcona Coffee Shop have entered the final playoffs in the senior B section of the Victoria Table Tennis Association.

Skyark Cafe, league winners, edged Sylvester U-Drive, 17-15, while Strathcona U-Drive won from McClures Grocery by default.

Finals will be staged at the Club Sirocco Tuesday night at 8.

Individual scores follow: Skyark Cafe—Allan Jones, 3; Ray Greenwood, 6; Grant Wilson, 4; Gerry Woods.

Sylvester U-Drive—Jim Stewart, 6; Jim Heathcote, 3; Bob Edington, 2; Shirley Hallor, 2.

MONTREAL ROYALS BLAST BELIVEAU AND COMPANY

QUEBEC (BUP)—Defenseman Glen Harmon started the Montreal Royals on a scoring spree in Quebec Wednesday night that didn't stop until the Aces had been drubbed 8-3 and their best-of-seven Quebec Senior Hockey League semi-final was tied up at two games each.

The Royals led the play all the way, turning the play-off into a new series that will see the teams in Montreal Saturday night for the fifth game and in Quebec Sunday night for the sixth.

Jean Beliveau was the only Quebec player anywhere near up to form as he accounted for two goals in a losing cause. Danny Nixon scored the other for the Aces.

Schoolboys Learn a Lot From Yankee Professor

LOS ANGELES (NEA)—Organized baseball, crying for superior talent, could learn a lot from Casey Stengel.

Managers, coaches and scouts in this area during spring workouts still talk of Manager Stengel taking the New York Yankees and other schoolboys around the bases in Glendale, Calif.

They had never seen anything like Professor Stengel lecturing 150 Glendale Hoover High School lads from the dugout to the batter's circle and plate, from base to base and through the outfield.

It struck a lot of us on the sideline that if every manager in the organized game did this, it would be of much more importance to baseball than, say, the Hall of Fame.

Professor Stengel gave the schoolboys the same treatment prescribed for 14 Yankee organization pitchers, four catchers, eight infielders and five outfielders ordered to his backyard in Glendale.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb will never fault players in the Bronx chain and youngsters who come into contact with Professor Stengel for not knowing the fundamentals.

Don't Get Caught Going Back

"No horse play on the bench," lectured Professor Stengel. "Pay strict attention to the game. Pitchers walk to the batter's circle and wait there just like everybody else. Watch the pitcher and the catcher, who may tip off his signs. The man in the batter's circle should be thinking of what he should do if the batter gets on base."

At first base, Professor Stengel demonstrated how a man with an extra base hit in sight should not make the big turn, but touch the bag with his left foot if he can and cut for second. There was a lesson in taking a lead. At second base, the students were told to watch the coaches, instructed in how not to be picked off.

"Move with the pitch," thundered Professor Stengel. Don't get caught going back to the base from which you are coming while the pitch is being made.

At third base the class was taught how to score on balls hit to the infield, when to go and when to fake going, but, by all means, start.

The New York American Way

"Keep moving," shouted the professor. "If caught in a run-down play, run up to the catcher before turning back. Don't give up. Phil Rizzuto got out of 10 run-down plays between third base and the plate last season."

Professor Stengel, for 21 years an outfielder, taught outfielders how to pick up and get rid of ground balls. Sylvester Johnson taught pitchers how to hold runners on base. On the other hand, baserunners were shown how to steal a lead by watching the pitcher's habits. Babe Herman worked on the batters.

When Professor Stengel and the faculty had finished, all hands had considerably more than a rough idea of how to play baseball the New York American way.

Spring or No Spring, Skiers Having Sport

It may be spring, with daffodils and crocuses and all, but skiers are enjoying some of the best snow conditions of the year, a year notable for a shortage of the white stuff.

Grouse Mountain, in Vancouver, and Forbiden Plateau and Mount Brenton here on the Island all boasted from one to two feet of new snow last week-end. And there were plenty of Sno-Bird Ski Club members out to test the depth's last Sunday.

Speaking of Vancouver and Grouse Mountain, there are big things over there this week-end, a big parade scheduled for Friday night and racing and jumping events on Sunday.

Eric Stein around and other European sking notables it should be a real wingding for Vancouver planksters.

Victoria Sno-Bird members are looking forward to the Mount Baker trip Easter weekend and some excellent skiing in this popular area. Locally, ski jaunts to Mount Brenton Lodge are planned this week-end and at Easter. Contact Jack McCall for reservations. G 1550, after 6 p.m.

By The Canadian Press

The Stanley Cup playoffs have barely started, but Detroit Red Wings are back at their old habit of rewriting the National Hockey League record book.

The Wings entertain Boston Bruins tonight in the second game of a best-of-seven cup semifinal, with a 7-0 victory under their belts and two NHL marks within their grasp.

At Montreal, the Canadiens will take on Chicago Black Hawks, whom they edged 3-1 in the opener of their best-of-seven set Tuesday, but both clubs will settle for a victory in that series.

TWO RECORDS

For Detroit, a shutout over the Bruins would establish two records—a 10-game playoff winning streak and a string of four playoff shutouts for goalie Terry Sawchuk.

The Wings started both streaks last spring, when they waited to the title with a minimum eight-game effort against Toronto Maple Leafs and the Canadiens. Sawchuk blanked the Montrealers in the last two games and added the third whitewash at the Bruins' expense Tuesday.

That leaves Terry tied with Frank McCool, now a Calgary sports writer, who blanked the Wings three times in a row in 1945 to spark the Leafs to a Stanley Cup victory. The Wings already have wrested the record for consecutive playoff victories from the 1946 Canadiens, who ran up eight straight.

BRUINS HOPEFUL

The Bruins, with a record of just two wins in 15 meetings with Detroit this season, hope to stage a comeback similar to the scare they threw into the Canadiens last season when they forced the favored Montrealers to seven games after dropping the first two.

At Montreal both clubs took things easy Wednesday. Canadian coach Dick Irvin gave his regulars the day off while Sid Abel put the Hawks through a light skating drill. Both clubs reported themselves free of injuries for the second game.

Playoff Games Slated for Minor Booters

Two playoff games are scheduled in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association this week-end.

Eagles will vie for honors with Mic Mac's in a third division match for the Lower Island title and E. H. Carey Cup at lower Beacon Hill Park Saturday at 1.

Winner of this contest will meet Nanaimo April 5 for the Island title and the right to represent the Island in the provincial playoffs at Vancouver on May 2 and 3.

In a fifth division final Eagles tangle with Shepherd's Dairy, Saturday, at Hollywood Park at 1, for the Victoria Baggage Cup. Winners will meet a squad from Nanaimo here on Good Friday, in a preliminary to the Victoria United-Victoria West exhibition contest, with the victor traveling to the B.C. playoffs.

Flames Make Blackened Skeleton of Gonzales Home

Marshal May Probe Cause of Big Blaze

Old Pemberton Home Total Loss
As Flames Level Stately Landmark

By ROY THORSEN

A special investigator of the B.C. fire marshal's office may be assigned to probe the cause of a fire Wednesday night that destroyed one of Victoria's oldest homes in the Gonzales district.

Fire Chief Frank Briers said he was seriously considering this move after a survey today of the blackened ruin of the 60-year-old Pemberton home, known as "Mount Joy," at 617 Foul Bay Road.

"It smells," the chief commented when queried as to whether he thought the spectacular blaze was the work of an incendiary.

Chief Briers pointed out the three-story house—which originally cost $50,000—had not been occupied for the last three years.

Attracted by flames shooting hundreds of feet into the air over the old landmark, dozens of motorists converged on the scene.

Victoria and Oak Bay firemen teamed to battle the blaze. Two Saanich firemen passing in a car put on their fire-fighting coats and helmets and helped.

In all there were 24 firemen and officers at the fire scene, two pumps and a service car from the city and a pump and a tank truck from Oak Bay.

Owned By Three-Man Syndicate

Under the axe of house-wrecking crews, the old house on three and a half acres was owned by a syndicate composed of Stewart H. Evans, 2005 Romney, J. R. Genge and Dr. W. Marshall.

Mr. Evans said it was purchased from the estate of the late Will Pemberton. He said it was planned to sub-divide the property for a housing project. Asked if there is fire insurance on the house, Mr. Evans said: "No comment."

Oak Bay fire department received the first alarm at 11:24 p.m. A resident telephoned that there was a large bush fire at the back of the 600 block, Foul Bay Road.

Fire Chief Ed Clayards and crews on two vehicles rushed to the scene to discover the house ablaze. They laid in line and called city firemen as the house was inside the Victoria boundary.

Chief Clayards said the whole house was engulfed in flames when he arrived. Civilians helped fire-fighters to get hose to the fire. Besides pouring thousands of gallons of water on the fire itself, firemen also wetted down trees to prevent the spread of flames to nearby homes.

Intense heat kept firemen from getting close to the blaze.

Lack of Wind Reduces Danger

Danger to other residences was lessened by the fact there was no wind to carry sparks.

Onlookers were liberally showered with sparks and ashes, especially when the south wall crashed with a roar shortly after midnight.

One woman went close to the fire to pick flowers that were in danger of being killed by the heat. Others followed suit.

Firemen had knocked down the fire in about an hour and a half. A crew stayed on the job during the night and was still pouring water on smoldering timbers in the basement at daylight today.

Only the northwest and west walls and six giant chimneys are left standing.

The house had six rooms on each of the first and third floors and seven on the second. There were 13 tiled fireplaces and the interior finish was chiefly cedar woodwork. Doors were hand-made. Mr. Pemberton, in later years, put in steam heating and modern lighting fixtures and had the interior generally renovated.

A conservatory attached to the house was destroyed. The home was famous as a garden centre in its early days.

Efforts to have the house made into a nursing home in recent years were rejected by City Council, which would not authorize rezoning for that purpose.

Firemen Ask Conciliation On Ruling

Protest Order on Where They Live

City firemen today said they will go to the provincial government over a ruling of the city council that they must live within a three-mile radius of city hall.

Representatives of the firemen's union said the action of council was considered a "grievance" under terms of their working agreement, and that a conciliation board will be sought to hear their case.

Ald. Percy Scourrah, fire wardens' chairman, told a delegation from the union the committee could make no change in its former recommendation for the three-mile radius.

"The committee went as far as the fire chief wanted to go," he said.

The union asked that firemen be permitted to live anywhere in the adjacent municipalities. Ald. Scourrah said the three-mile limit would hold but exceptional cases could be discussed with the city manager.

Firemen contend the city has no legal right to place residence restrictions on any of its employees. They contend also that the present restriction prevents veterans on the force from taking advantage of the Veterans' Land Act.

Sioux Leaves Friday

HMCS Sioux will leave HMC Dockyard jetty at 3 p.m. Friday, on the first leg of her voyage to England as part of Canada's naval representation at the Coronation.

Sioux will proceed to Halifax, to await arrival of HMCS Ontario, due to leave here April 7.

TIGHT PURSE

No City Cash To Send Pair To Coronation

City Council's finance committee said today it could not afford to make a donation to help send two Greater Victoria High School students to the Coronation.

In the meantime, J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools and Coronation fund chairman, appealed to the school population itself to make five and ten-cent donations to build the fund from its present $1,051 to $2,000.

Mayor Claude Harrison said the city would like to contribute to "all sorts of things" but did not have the money.

Ald. Percy Scourrah and Ald. Robert Macmillan agreed and both felt if the city was to make any charitable donations there were other "worthy causes" which would come before the Coronation fund.

Ald. Frank Mulliner urged the committee to give $25, but was outvoted.

"Oak Bay gave nothing and it is a rich municipality," commented the mayor.

"If we gave $25, they should give $250; they are much better off than we are," said Ald. Macmillan.

Problems

Problems...

...nothing but problems for Shriner Joe Foster these days. He's chairman of the housing committee for the Gizeh Temple ceremonial here June 5, 6 and 7—and more than 6,000 Shriners have indicated they wish to attend. So far, Mr. Foster has lined up every hotel, auto camp and boarding house for miles around, has accommodation for more than 3,500. He's appealing now for private homes to take in Shriners. Island Ships Record Cargo Of Daffs East

Vancouver Island daffodil industry is getting geared today to ship by air cargo next week over 2,400,000 daffodils to the Prairies and Eastern Canada.

The shipment represents the largest in the history of the daffodil industry on the Island. Starting next Monday, three big Trans-Canada Air Lines aircraft will shuttle to and from Patricia Bay to points east with shipments of Saanich-grown flowers. The special flights will continue until Thursday.

One aircraft, a North Star, stripped of all seats, will fly as far east as Montreal with about 90,000 blooms for distribution to major stores. Other points to which daffodils are being shipped include Winnipeg, Toronto, Calgary and Edmonton.

Saanich growers said they will require next week about 150 pickers to fill out the shipments which must arrive at their respective destinations before Easter.

"We are getting ready now," said G. A. Vantreigh. "Starting next Monday we will be going steady without a stop until Thursday."

Northwest Icemen Meeting in City

"Iceman's Ice does it best" is the theme of the Northwest Association of Ice Industries convention in Empress Hotel, today and Friday.

"Icemen" from the Pacific Northwest States and B.C. are attending, and main topics discussed are the technical aspects of manufacturing ice for commercial use.

William Ridley, Ridley Ice Company, Vancouver, is in the chair. W. L. Wilson, B. Wilson Co., Victoria, is a director.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Can you give me a safe formula for cleaning oil paintings dark with age?—A.P.

A. There is no universal formula for the cleaning of oil paintings. In any case the first ingredient would be a high degree of skill and knowledge unlikely to be possessed by the layman. It is seldom that two old paintings call for exactly the same technique or material for safe restoration. The Arts Centre would probably refer the questioner to an expert on the subject.

Q. Can you tell me what species of wild ducks at present in Beacon Hill Park have all-white bodies and nut-brown heads?—G.S.

A. Probably canvas-backs, whose bodies are white with the exception of the tail and whose heads are a reddish-brown.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor, Oregians and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

What bothers me about the present political situation in B.C. is, the Socreds didn't even stick around long enough to find oil.

Also, I cannot quite understand the news report of yesterday which informed us "Mayor Laments Loss of Rolston Formula."

When something is lost, you don't know where it is. And everybody knows where the Rolston formula is. It is in the coming election campaign.

The above items bring to mind the sad ballad which, according to My Favorite Wife, is currently being rendered by members of the government (or ex-government, as the case may be) of this intriguing province.

My Favorite Wife requests the purple spotlight, and soft music, maestro, please, as you listen to:

THE SOCIAL CREDIT LAMENT

For Social Credit, hear this sad lament:
You never knew us before we went!
And we were going to be, as never was,
Fighters for a glorious cause.

We stood our ground, with aid from the Libs,
While opponents thundered against His Nibs—
And all and sundry tried to crack,
The silent treatment from Premier Wack.

But then the formula, formed by Tilly,
Drove opposition a little bit silly.
Could they not see we intended to be Launched once more on the election sea?

We've not been fired, nor put on probation,
What B.C. needs is a Liberal education.
With Conservative help, and everyone's Labor,
We'll finally have—a government in favor.

But this is the Socreds' sad lament—
You never knew us before we went.

A thought for today, after looking at the mass of unfinished legislation:
Never have so few done so little for so many.

EDGAR MCINNIS

Canadian Delegate To United Nations To Speak in City

Edgar McInnis, president of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, will be here April 8 to address an evening meeting of the Victoria branch of the institute.

Member of the Canadian delegation to the seventh session of the United Nations General Assembly, he has been national president since February, 1952.

Native of Charlottetown and a Rhodes Scholar, he is the author of three books on political subjects and of numerous articles and pamphlets.

His institute address will be to members and their guests, but arrangements are being undertaken for a public meeting April 9. Mr. McInnis will also be heard over CKDA during his visit here.

Liberals Meet Soon To Choose New Leader

Federal Members to Attend Vancouver Convention After Easter

A Liberal Party convention, at which a new leader will be chosen to succeed Byron Johnson, will be held in Vancouver soon after the Easter week-end.

Top Liberal leaders today are laying plans for the party, which will be held at a time when federal Liberals can attend.

MOURNING OBSERVED HERE

Government House announced Wednesday night that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Clarence Wallace, has canceled all social engagements for one month, due to court mourning for Her Late Majesty Queen Mary.

Announcement was made following receipt of a telegram from the Lord Chamberlain, the Earl of Scarborough, delivered through the Under Secretary of State.

Progressive Conservatives plan to contest every seat except Fernie, the Labor stronghold of veteran MLA Tom Up hill.

"I expect our party to make great gains," said Deane Finlayson of Nanaimo, PC leader. Joseph Corbie, provincial CCF president, said his party has already nominated almost 20 per cent of its election candidates.

"We are stronger than we've ever been," he said.

New Financing Plan On School Building Expected to Pass

The Legislature today was expected to approve a new bill establishing a new system for financing construction of schools.

It is understood party leaders have already agreed to give the bill clear passage.

The new bill actually makes the same provision as the rejected Rolston Formula so far as financing new schools is concerned. This feature was the one thing in the formula which the opposition found acceptable.

The new bill will allow school boards to borrow money for new projects and the bonds will be guaranteed by the province.

Cash Box Stolen From City Garage

A cash box containing $45 was stolen from the National Motors service station Wednesday night, operator K. Cathcart reported to city police this morning.

Police said a commissionaire found the door insecure at 10:30 p.m.

BUTTE LAKE DAM GETS GOVERNMENT 'GO-AHEAD'

The B.C. Power Commission will be given the go-ahead signal on damming of Butte Lake, Premier Bennett said today.

The defeat of the minority Social Credit government, he said, will not upset the decision of the special legislative committee which recommended approval of the dam.

"The government has accepted the committee's recommendation," he said.

Asked if the government will insist that all the strict conditions attached to the approval be adhered to, the premier said this matter will be discussed with the power commission officials soon.

Two Held In Nanaimo Burglary Case

Two arrests have been made by RCMP in the theft of $13,353 in jewelry at Nanaimo, early in the month.

Force headquarters in Victoria today said two men taken into custody are suspects in the burglary of Miller's jewelry store, Victoria Crescent, Nanaimo, during the week-end of February 28-March 2.

Police would not reveal their names but said one is a Nanaimo resident and the other is from Comox.

Police said the arrests resulted in the recovery of "a considerable quantity" of stolen jewelry.

Included in the jewelry stolen from the store were 75 watches, 150 rings, $2,000 worth of assorted jewelry, a radio and $18 in cash.

Four Facing Trial For Liquor Theft

Four mainland men went on trial today in Victoria County Court in connection with the theft of goods under the value of $25.

Called before Judge Joseph B. Clearhue were Henry W. Gable, William F. Morrison, William R. Caverly and Albert S. Glover. The quartet face three charges in connection with the theft last Jan. 27 of two bottles of Australian wine, one bottle of Scotch whisky and six packages of cigarettes from the home of J. L. Roberts, 2631 Queenswood. They are charged firstly with committing the theft; secondly, with receiving the items, knowing them to be stolen, and thirdly, with retaining them in their possession.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Three Tiers for That Big and Little Sister

By PENNY SAVER

The cotton Everglaze skirts in gay Coronation print are sure to be popular. Styled in a full-skirted three-tiered effect, they will fit all sizes from four to six at $2.98, and seven to 12 at $3.98.

The neighbors will be cutting up their Monks cloth drapes and trying to copy this smart dress when you wear it. Fashioned from a new type of monk's cloth, it has a quilted effect, and is patterned in outline stitching in a conventional floral design. Blue, green or brown on an oyster white background.

On display in a downtown shop window, it is drawing admiring glances from all passers-by. This dress is sleeveless with a covered halter top, buttoning on one shoulder, with a high round neckline. It has a full-flared skirt with inset side pockets and grosgrain belt in solid colors. The shawl stole is cleverly trimmed with cotton pompons. Truly a lovely dress in a material that would travel well, price $35, and available in sizes 11-17.

Now we have straw shopping baskets or bags from Hong Kong, beautifully decorated with colored felt flowers. One in a half-moon shape at $3.69 would make a lovely knitting bag. There is a tall basket shape, with blue and red flowers, for $3.99.

Another in shopping bag style has green woven stripes, $2.99, and a smaller square shape has zipper closing, woven handles and wine and red flowers, price $3.69.

Also saw a large envelope shape with an unusual woven shell edge, in a ribbed effect, red leather binding, wooden handles and red and gold flowers. Leave this one for me at $3.99.

All the baskets are lined and have a small pocket for your change purse. They are going so quickly that it is necessary to hurry or you may have to wait until the second order arrives.

Those special little hand-smocked flannel nightgowns for infants would make a dainty Easter gift at $1.95. In pastel shades of mauve, pink, blue, green, yellow or white, they have comfortable raglan sleeves and open back, with ties.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Eyes Are Expressive, Keep Them Attractive

People have always recognized the fact that large, expressive beautiful eyes are a great asset. The ancient Egyptians were so imbued with this idea that they slit the eyes of their little daughters at the outer edges in order to make them look bigger (the eyes, not the daughter). This seems a bit drastic. Thank heavens, today we have beauty aids which do much more for us than the knife!

Today let us consider the brows. Not long ago many women tweezed their brows to a fine little line with a very high arch. Today the trend in cosmetic use is toward an enhanced but natural effect. Therefore the wise woman just takes out the stray hairs, those which blur the natural line of her brow. You should begin on the underneath side of the brow. Some experts tell us never to remove hairs from above the brows. However I do not think this is practical because stray hairs do grow above the brow and if we are to emphasize the natural line and look well groomed we must remove these hairs. However, do not dig into the natural line.

Many women are troubled with unruly hairs, which although growing in the natural brow line, protrude from it in a prickly manner. These hairs can be trained. Use one of the lash pomades on the brows. When removing stray hairs never pull them against the way they naturally grow or at right angles. Pull in the direction in which the hair grows. There are all kinds of tweezers. Some women prefer blunt ends and others rounded ends. It seems to me that the blunt ends are much more effective. There is one kind which has small handles like scissors and which is easy to handle because it has a curved centre so that you can see what you are doing.

If you would like to have my leaflet about make-up send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 50 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

We know that it doesn't pay to take chances with illness. If a nurse is needed in your home, call the Victorian Order of Nurses. The order's services are available to everyone.

Napped and pile fabrics in deep colors are apt to have a tendency to "crock," which refers to the rubbing off in spots of the excess dye from an article.

Broiled canned peach halves are our favorite stand-by to doll up inexpensive meat loaves and the like. A 1½ teaspoon each of honey and tart red jelly with a sprinkling of ground cloves on top for each peach half not only makes a pretty glaze but adds delicious flavor as well.

Crisp red apples, walnuts, raisins and sliced celery are the makings of our favorite winter salad. Leave the skins on the apples and cut them into bite-sized pieces. Leave the walnuts in fairly large pieces also and toss all the ingredients together lightly with a thinned-down mayonnaise.

The mannequins will be Misses Val Brown, Gracia Carlson, Joan Hodge, Patricia Jones, Mrs. Hope Miles and Mrs. Mary Rawnsley.

TODAY'S RECIPE

MOCHA CAKE WITH LACY TOPPING

Empty contents of a package of coffee mocha cake mix into mixing bowl; fluff with fork. Measure out eight ounces water (one complete cup). Add half the water (four ounces). Mix until free from lumps. Add remainder of water (four ounces) slowly, mixing smooth after each addition. Batter will be thin. Pour into two eight-inch layer cake pans lined with waxed paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 30-35 minutes. Cool five minutes before removing from pans. Fill cold cake by putting the two layers together with a generous layer of cooled cream custard filling. Cover top layer with a lace paper doilie and sift over it confectioners' sugar. Carefully lift lace paper doilie, leaving design.

AS WE LIVE

Overcrowded Family Suffers Needlessly

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Living in too cramped quarters is bad for all concerned, but especially so for children. What is this young mother to do when her family grows faster than the family budget? She writes:

(Q)—"When my husband got out of service in 1945, we bought a small house on the outskirts of town. It has a living room, kitchen and dinette combined, one small bedroom and bath, and an attic. Now we have four small children and it is a nightmare. The children are always underfoot and I spend all my time straightening up the place. My husband insists we will have enough room when he gets some extra money to get the attic done which seems never as things are now. He also insists it is better for the children living in the country than in the city. This is getting on my nerves to the point that I am ready for a breakdown. What can I do?"

(A)—I agree with your husband that it is better for children to be out in the country when they are young so they can play out-of-doors safely when the weather is good. But things are bad especially for the long months of winter when they must be indoors.

No member of the family can get restful sleep when they are literally sleeping on top of each other as you must have to do. Furthermore, the children have too little space and you have to work too hard to keep house.

Start looking around for another house that is larger even if not so modern and in as good condition as yours. You might be able to arrange an exchange or you could pay extra for what you get from the sale of your home. It may mean moving further out of town to get a home in the price range you can afford but make this sacrifice for the sake of your children.

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's great psychologists, and she will gladly help you with personal problems.

Attendant Honors Carol Richards

Miss Carol Richards, an early April bride-elect, was guest of honor recently when her bridesmaid, Miss Sylvia Inkpen, entertained at her home, Scott Street, with a miscellaneous shower. A corsage of agerbers was presented to Miss Richards and hyacinths and violets to her mother, Mrs. A. Richards. A large Easter basket contained the many gifts.

During the evening a bride's scrapbook was compiled by the guests, who were Mrs. J. Danielson, Mrs. K. Richards, Mrs. R. Hunt, Mrs. J. Adkins, Mrs. T. Inkpen, Mrs. D. Muckle, Mrs. P. Wilks, Mrs. J. Deboise and the Misses Lorraine Bowen, Flo Hitch, Pat Richie, Margaret Tredwell, Beverly Hearn, Betty Stanfield, Kathy Nuttall, Ruth Craven and Joanne Pringle.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, March 26th — What a handsome couple you'll make in the Easter Parade this year! You in your gay spring bonnet and hubby in a B.V.D. NYLON TROICOT SHIRT. Yes, B.V.D. Nylon Shirts always look neat and trim. Made of comfortable, good-looking nylon tricot—with fused nylon collars and cuffs that never will—B.V.D. Nylon Shirts stay handsome without ironing. Laundry's no problem at all—just a quick rinse—wait a while—and the shirt is ready to wear. You save the price of the shirt in laundry bills alone. Take my tip—get your husband a handsome, long-wearing B.V.D. Nylon Tricot Shirt for Easter ($12.95 in blue, tan, grey or white).

I've Often Wondered What Happened to that excellent poster—"Out of the Blue Comes the White Wash". It may be out of use, but its message is still good. Yes, it's a simple matter to get sparkling white sheets, towels, pillow cases and table linen when you use Blue. When you're rinsing your wash to get the clothes clean, simply put a dash of Blue in the water—to get them really white. Blue is kind to your finest fabrics—you're not taking chances when you use it to get your washings snowy white. A few pennies a month, that's all. And the cost? Yes, for the whitest wash, use RECKITT'S BLUE.

The Young Man in the high chair loves hot "Cream of Wheat" for breakfast. Specially when it's topped with tender, meaty raisins making a "jolly raisin-dice. Delicious! And hot CREAM OF WHEAT is so good for baby and the whole family. It contains iron for good red blood and calcium and phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. So give them all — toddlers and grownups — a quick start for the day. Treat them to hot "Cream of Wheat"! Be sure to ask for the package with the familiar trademark "Cream of Wheat" and the smiling chef — both trademarks of Cream of Wheat (Canada) Ltd. and Reg. Canadian and U.S. Pat. Off.

I'm Ready And Eager To Leave winter behind... and that includes heavy winter clothes. Don't you feel the same way? I'll wager you're busy right now, remodeling and making lovely, light-as-air dresses for spring and summer wear. So here's a tip—be sure to use LIGHTNING FASTENERS. They give the professional "finishing touch" to all the clothes you make. They fit so neatly, smoothly into dress seams. And you'll find just the size, length and colour of Lightning Fastener you want for every fashion-wise costume you make. Style No. 702 is just right for dresses and lightweight skirts. And remember, every Lightning you buy has Lightning's exclusive automatic lock. It never slips down.

It's A Pleasure! Dishes done, wink-quick, with those new Jergens Lotions. So smooth and so smooth, too, if you use JERGENS LOTION. It smooths and soothes hands roughened and dried by these new soaps. Because it's liquid, it quickly penetrates to supply the softening moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. Keep a bottle of Jergens Lotion handy in both kitchen and bathroom. Make a hand-care habit of it—to keep your hands always soft, smooth and lovely, with that cared-for look that only Jergens Lotion can give them. Remember Jergens Lotion because you care for your hands. It's not expensive—just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15.

I Could Hardly Believe My Ears when I first heard about FRENCH'S INSTANT POTATO... but it's true—it takes just one minute to prepare creamy-smooth, delicious mashed potatoes with French's Instant Potato. There's no washing—no peeling—no cooking—no mashing. All you do is follow the directions on the package. Every package contains ten servings—the last as sweet and fresh-tasting as the first. And so economical—there's no waste when you measure out the servings according to directions. You'll really have to try this "miracle" food for yourself. Ask your grocer for French's Instant Potato next time you're shopping.

Did You Know that you can buy bathroom tissue in dainty pastel tints to harmonize with the color scheme of your bathroom? Where I buy it, I'm told that many women buy NANCY tissue the first time because they like the idea of a colored tissue... but what brings them back time after time is Nancy quality. Though quite modestly priced it really is a deluxe tissue. The label tells you that it is made from the same fine quality tissue as Face-Ette and I can believe that, because Nancy is far softer than any ordinary tissue. It is a 3-ply tissue, well-perforated for tearing easily with no struggle ends. A good many drug and some grocery stores carry Nancy, but if you have difficulty getting it in your neighborhood, just write me for where-to-buy information. Address—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

She was a symbol of all that is fine... of dignity, kindness and the love of home and family.

In her long life she came to represent the best traditions which her Country gave to the world.

Reverently, we join with all The Commonwealth in mourning the loss of our beloved Queen Mary.

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Last night I met Barbara Ann Scott. . . Not the Barbara Ann you will see in Memorial Arena this evening. . . all sparkle and color and rhythm. . . Rather a Barbara Ann who might have been an attractive younger sister in any Canadian family. A petite young miss with huge grey-blue eyes, ash blonde hair and a wide friendly smile. A young lady with an intriguing drawl in her voice and an ability to turn charm on and off at will. . . A successful young business woman wearing a powder blue corded wool two-piece suit, white wool pullover sweater, powder blue matching wool jockey cap, full-length pale pink coat, high-heeled patent leather shoes, carrying a matching patent leather bag.

Bessie

With her was her skating partner. . . tall, black-haired Michael Kirby. And when they entered the Empress Hotel a little after 11 o'clock last night. . . if you hadn't known they were coming. . . If the assistant manager hadn't hurried forward to greet them. . . if there hadn't been murmured "oh's" and "ah's" and hand clapping from a number of hotel guests and eager Victorians waiting to see them. . . you still would have taken a second look. . . and you would have thought to yourself, "What an attractive young couple!"

Only don't get any romantic ideas from what I've just said. . . for Michael Kirby is married (he probably tells you he has four children). . . And if Barbara Ann has a heart interest she isn't telling reporters.

Their plane was late. . . they'd been flying for over 12 hours (all the way from Toronto). They were tired and hungry, and to doubt would have liked nothing better than to check into their rooms, have something to eat and get off to bed.

Instead they were ushered into a drawing room suite where a group of camera men, radio and newspaper reporters and executive heads of the Victoria Skating Club had been waiting several hours for them. They were introduced all around. . . drank coffee and ate sandwiches with us. . . did two radio interviews and answered endless questions. . . Asked a few themselves too!

Skating Here in Vacation Time

Believe it or not, this is their Easter vacation time. If it wasn't they, couldn't have accepted the engagement to appear with the Victoria Skating Club in Ice-Capers of '53. . . for they have bookings that will keep them busy all this year.

And somehow I got the impression they mightn't have been here even then, if both Barbara Ann and Michael hadn't been old friends of Mary Rose Thacker, the Victoria club's professional.

"We skated together when we were very young," Barbara Ann said. . . And there was a warmth in her voice that gave you the idea that "skating together when we were young," made them friends for life.

"I love to skate," Barbara Ann told me, "but that doesn't mean I intend to go on skating forever. . . when it ceases to be fun. . . I intend to stop!"

However, skating with Michael is fun, she said. . . and she hasn't got to the point where she wants to stop.

We talked about the costumes she wears in her appearances on the ice and the colors she likes best.

"I have the final say about costumes," she told me, "sketches are drawn and presented to me and I add a frill here or tuck off a pleat or two there. Usually I like the basic designs. . . so we come to an easy compromise."

Has One Hate, Several Loves

As far as color combinations are concerned, Barbara Ann said she likes them all. . . Then she opened her eyes wider, screwed her mouth up into an expression of distaste and lifted her shoulders in a dainty little shrug.

"I've got one pet hate," she almost whispered, "I won't skate in purple!"

And she has one superstition. . . She always puts her left foot and skate on first. . . Why? . . . She doesn't know. "But I wouldn't feel right if I didn't," she said.

She's been doing this since she first started to win honors on the ice. . . "In fact, I can't remember when I first started," she said. . . "But I know I'll always do it!"

She loves the number 13, too. . . "It's lucky for me," she said with a quick smile. When she tells you that her armband at the Olympics was number 13 and that she won her second world championship on Friday the 13th, you know she means it.

Another of her loves is for emeralds. (She was wearing a square-cut emerald ring.) "They are my birthstone," she said.

"They are lucky for me!"

Barbara Ann and Michael stayed with us for over an hour. . . and seemed to enjoy it. . . When they finally said "good night" and went off with the assistant manager of the hotel to find their rooms we still thought they were a swell young couple!

Dinner and Theatre Party

Mr. and Mrs. Justin Harbord will entertain at dinner at the Union Club Friday, when their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Don Lawson and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Dunn. Following dinner with their guests they will attend the performance of "Blithe Spirit" at the York Theatre.

Miss Gloria Gallop Honored

Mrs. William F. Mullens was hostess on Monday evening with a miscellaneous shower in her Lyn Crescent home to honor Miss Gloria Gallop, who is to be married on Easter Saturday. Gifts from present and former co-workers of the bride-elect in the Department of Lands at the Parliament Buildings were concealed in a yellow and green basket trimmed with red roses and presented to Miss Gallop with a corsage of red roses. Her mother, Mrs. D. J. Ekstrom, received pink carnations.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Joane Painter and Miss Ina MacLean. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a shower cake garlanded with fresh spring flowers, which was later cut and served by the bride-to-be.

Invited guests were Mrs. W. M. Bryant, Mrs. A. S. Jones, Mrs. P. Bass, Mrs. K. Hall, Mrs. R. Coates, Mrs. C. Seary, Misses Joyce Gallop, Clara Stephenson, Shirley Mitchell, Helen Bouvier, Linky Niess, Winnie Fletcher, Zena Bradley, Pam Roisetter and Donna Brown.

Mrs. Stella Gummow, superintendent of women's institutes in British Columbia, left for the lower mainland today where she will attend the annual meeting of North Fraser institutes at Agassiz and the South Fraser meeting at Cloverdale.

Party diet tips

Easter Tea

Final arrangements for an Easter tea to be held in the Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay Company, Tuesday, 2.30 to 4.30 p.m., were made at a meeting of the Women's Benefit Association, Review No. 1, held in K. of P. Hall. There will be a home-cooked stall and a door prize. A vote of thanks was passed to the presiding officer, Mrs. J. Bowden, who loaned her home recently for a social evening.

Indian Hospital

At meeting of Colwood's Women's Institute, roll call was answered by the following committee: Mesdames A. Turner, T. Taylor, C. Parker and W. Foulks.

Receives Award

A two-year perfect attendance badge was presented to Mrs. S. Taylor at recent luncheon meeting of Victoria Lions' Auxiliary. Donation was voted to the Canadian Red Cross and Mrs. M. Mooney, welfare convener, reported a quantity of sewing done for Victoria Nursing Home. Mrs. E. R. Etheridge gave a demonstration of floral arrangements.

Scottish Review

The Scottish Review to be held at Royal Theatre April 13 was discussed and plans finalized at a meeting of Victoria Nursing Home Auxiliary, in the home of Mrs. R. S. Vickers, Cedar Hill Road. Mrs. C. C. Warren presided and welcomed a new member, Mrs. J. S. Gill. It was reported Mrs. J. A. Syme has joined the auxiliary as an associate member. Approximately 50 aprons made by the members were brought to the meeting in preparation for a garden party to take place in June at the nursing home, Gorge Road. Arrangements were made for a tag day in May. Next meeting will be held at home of Mrs. R. G. Aitken, 88 Wellington Avenue, April 21.

Rummage Sale

A rummage sale will be held in the Market Building on Saturday morning commencing at 7 a.m., under auspices of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club. Court Mourning Cancels Functions

Due to official court mourning for Her Late Majesty Queen Mary, the reception and tea to be held Friday at Government House for British Columbia Girl Guides Council has been canceled.

Also canceled until after the period of mourning is the dinner which was to be given Saturday in the officers' mess at the Bay Street Armory by Lieut.-Col. W. J. Mosedale and officers of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) in honor of their wives.

Will Fly to California

Miss Patricia Wright, 1050 Richardson Street, is leaving by air on Thursday, April 2, to visit her parents, Sir Charles and Lady Wright, in La Jolla, Calif. She will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Mead, 1344 Pandora Avenue. The three friends will be away for two weeks and during that time expect to spend four days in Mexico.

Party for Travelers

A no-host Chinese dinner party was held Tuesday evening in Ming's Kitchen to say farewell to Miss Margaret Nixon and Miss Janet Bishop, who leave this week-end for the British Isles. Miss Bishop will fly to Toronto on Saturday and Miss Nixon will leave Victoria on Sunday to travel east by train. The two will spend Easter week-end in the Ontario city and will sail aboard the Queen Elizabeth from Montreal on April 8. Miss Bishop will return to Victoria the end of June but Miss Nixon is planning an indefinite visit in England, where she will stay for a time with Dr. and Mrs. Kingsley Terry, former Victorians, at their home in Sussex.

Kitchen Shower for Niece

Mrs. William Bremner entertained at the home of Mrs. William Young, 488 Joffre Street, to honor her niece, Miss Rita Kaltenbach, who will be married in Nanaimo on Saturday. The affair took the form of a kitchen shower and the gifts were concealed in a box, beautifully decorated in mauve and yellow. A buffet supper was served, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. Young and Mrs. M. Oosterink.

Invited guests were Mrs. S. Brock, Mrs. W. Burley, Mrs. S. Kellway, Mrs. A. Fido, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. W. Peterson, Mrs. T. Ackerman, Mrs. H. Eastwood, Mrs. M. Nelson, Mrs. J. Butler, Mrs. J. Beaudin, Mrs. R. Thomas and Misses Mary Stewart and Bernice Burley.

Parties of April Bride

Friends of Miss Shirley Cameron, who is to be married to Mr. Donald Farmer Wingate of San Francisco on April 18, are planning a series of parties in her honor in the days before the wedding.

Mrs. B. Russell Ker will give a luncheon for the bride-elect at her Rockland Avenue home next Wednesday. On Thursday, April 2, Mrs. L. D. McClintock will entertain at her Oak Bay Avenue home with a pottery shower.

Mrs. R. D. Travis is inviting a group of the bride-elect's friends to a buffet supper at her Barkley Street home on April 7.

Mrs. Claude Harrison has invited 50 friends to a coffee party at her Beach Drive home on April 11 to honor Miss Cameron, who is her godchild.

Mrs. Donald Crysdale, chosen as matron of honor by Miss Cameron, will join with her mother, Mrs. H. B. Bate, to entertain at a luncheon in the Union Club.

Victorian to Act as Adjudicator

At the invitation of the board of directors of the 10th annual Music Festival of the Fraser Valley, Miss Wynne Shaw, well-known Victoria dancing teacher, will travel to Mission City this week-end to adjudicate the dancing division of the festival from March 30 to April 2.

Following the festival Miss Shaw will return to Victoria and then go to Seattle with eight of her students, where they will take ballet classes with two prominent Seattle teachers. In the student group will be Marie Maggiora, Sheila MacDonald, Vera Wakelyn, Gwen Gillie, Vivian Briggs, Jeannie Burns, Carole Slater and Jan Fraser. Mrs. Jack Fraser will accompany the party to the Puget Sound city.

Hume Cables 'Pay Any Price' for BEG Head

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Fred Hume has cabled London for an expert to manage the British Empire Games here next year.

He said Wednesday he has asked W. A. McAdam, B.C.'s agent-general in London, to get in touch with managers of the 1948 and 1952 Olympic Games and the 1950 British Empire Games.

"I told him to find the best man and ship him out here, expense no object," said Mr. Hume. The BEG Society had applications from 36 men for the post, but all were ruled out as unsuitable.

One of the three sought by Mayor Hume is Arthur Holt of London. He managed the 1948 Olympics and has been named general manager for the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia.

GUESSING GAME WINS $1,430 FOR VICTORIAN

The loud pedal on a piano brought $1,430 to Mrs. Lorraine E. Pigott, 897 Brett Avenue, Saanich, Wednesday.

"Loud Pedal" proved to be the answer to C.J.V.I.'s radio guessing game "Casino," and Mrs. Pigott's correct answer was drawn.

The prize is believed to be the biggest cash jackpot ever given away in Victoria.

Fingerprints to Settle Case of Thompson Vs. Dugid

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 38-year-old man in custody here says he is not Harry Dugid, No. 8 on the RCMP's most-wanted criminal list.

The man, captured when he attempted to break into a theatre and then recaptured after a dive from a moving police car at Oakalla prison camp, claimed he is Harry Thompson. RCMP officers claim Thompson's fingerprints match gazetted copies of Dugid's prints. Fingerprints taken after his arrest Sunday were sent to Ottawa Monday. They will be compared with the prints for Dugid on file for the final decision.

TART REPLY
LONDON (CP)—J. H. Hutchinson, parliamentary under-secretary to the war office, told the House of Commons "one of the shortest and greatest letters I have ever seen" came from a soldier's wife who had been asked to move from married quarters. She wrote: "Dear sir, I remain, yours truly."

Witnesses', Interpreters' Fees Branded as 'Ridiculous Joke'

OTTAWA (CP)—A lawyer by others, in a Commons committee postponed final consideration of pertinent sections in the voluminous bill to amend the criminal code.

He said the $3-a-day fee for witnesses before summary conviction courts and justices should be raised to $5 for general witnesses and $7.50 for professional witnesses. He also argued that interpreters should get more than $2.50 for each half-day because this makes it almost impossible to get qualified men in New Brunswick.

Characters in Search of Treasure

Robert Newton plays the title role in the melodramatic Edmund Grainger production, "Blackbeard the Pirate." He is flanked by starring Keith Andes and Linda Darnell, the star credits including also William Bendix, shown in centre. The RKO Radio picture is in color by Technicolor, now playing at the Capitol Theatre.

(R to BB) "BLACKBEARD THE PIRATE" (Capitol)—Full of duels and jewels, histrionics and ham, this RKO Technicolor production concerns the fight to the death between the forces of notorious pirates Blackbeard and Sir Henry Morgan. Best at making faces are Robert Newton as the blustery, "Heh-Heh"-ing Blackbeard and William Bendix as the pirate's mate. In between the blood-letting beautiful Linda Darnell and handsome Keith Andes take time out for some absent-minded love-making. And this is where "Blackbeard the Pirate" hits its nadir of incredibility. Who could be detached wailing Miss Darnell? "Heh-Heh," as Blackbeard would cackle.

DODGE coronet V8

powered by the Mighty new 140 h.p. red ram V8 engine

Get set for the driving thrill of your life... with the mighty new 140 h.p. Red Ram V-8 engine of the famous "dome-shaped" combustion chamber design. This new engine packs more power punch per cubic inch displacement. It brings you the triple power advantages of "dome-shaped" combustion chamber... short stroke design... high lift lateral valves. More fuel energy goes into power, less is wasted in heat and friction. The Dodge Coronet V-8 is the lowest priced car with this modern engine design.

THRILLING RICE DESSERTS ARE EASY!

Never knew rice pudding to be so popular! All the family love Minute Rice puddings—they're so delicious and mothers find them so wonderfully quick and easy to make. For Minute Rice is pre-cooked. The only rice of its kind.

Serve Minute Rice as a vegetable in place of potatoes, too. See what exciting things it does for "left-overs" in delicious supper dishes. You'll find versatile Minute Rice a wonderful time-saver—use it often.

Pre-cooked Minute Rice needs no washing, no rinsing, no draining, no steaming—always cooks to desired tenderness, with each grain plump, fluffy and separate.

For Rice Served Plain—What Time-Saving!

OLD WAY NEW WAY

1st STEP Remove inferior rice kernels. Wash carefully.

2nd STEP Slowly pour into salted boiling water. Boil briskly, stirring often, until kernels are soft. (Up to 25 minutes!)

3rd STEP Drain rice in sieve.

4th STEP Pour boiling water over rice until grains are separate.

5th STEP Steam rice 5 to 10 minutes.

Time—40 minutes Utensils to wash: 2 pans, 1 sieve.

1st STEP Add Minute Rice to water and salt, in saucepan.

2nd STEP Bring to a full rolling boil. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

THE DOCTOR SAYS
By EDWIN JORDAN, MD

Reactions to Diseases Differ; Foretelling Outcome Difficult

One of the most difficult problems facing physicians in their care of the sick is to calculate what the outcome of an illness will be. It is, of course, relatively easy in the case of some minor ailment, such as a common cold, but it is extraordinarily difficult to forecast the future in many of the more complicated diseases.

Whenever anyone is stricken by a serious illness or is facing an operation, both the patient and the patient's family want to know whether recovery will take place, how long it will take to get well, and if recovery, is not complete, how much interference there will be with future activities and health.

These are good questions, but too often they cannot be answered to the complete satisfaction of the patient and his family. The reason for this is that no two people react exactly alike to the same disease or operation. Also, a single disease varies a great deal in its effects on different patients.

Thus, even in most mild diseases there will be a few patients, perhaps one or two out of a hundred, who may develop serious complications. About all the doctor can do in such cases, therefore, is to state that the vast majority recover without difficulty.

When the proportion of those who do not recover from a disease is high the problem of foretelling the outcome is particularly difficult. At the beginning of an illness also, it is more difficult to tell what the result will be than it is later on when the physician has had a chance to observe the disease and its effect on the patient and the ability of the patient to withstand its ravages.

Consequently, it is often the case that the more experience the doctor has, the more reluctant he is to tell a patient or the patient's family something definite when there may be a fifty-fifty chance of being wrong.

The same problems exist when it comes to the question of how long an illness may last. A few diseases like chickenpox, for example, almost always take about the same length of time. Many other conditions, however, vary so much that it is extremely difficult to say how long it will be before complete recovery takes place.

FORECAST OFTEN IMPOSSIBLE

Generally, when complete recovery does not take place, it is often impossible to tell in advance what the effect will be on the patient's customary occupation and activity until the disease has reached its later stages.

The outcome of illness, therefore, depends on many factors, such as the age of the patient, the family history, state of health at the time when the illness developed, and the mental attitude of the patient. For all these reasons physicians often seem reluctant to answer what seem like perfectly simple questions, and when they try to do so the forecast may err on one side or the other.

Vancouver Firm Gets Contract on Water Pipeline

Bid of $447,463 from Ledingham & Co., Vancouver, for installation of a new steel pipeline from Thetis Lake Road to the city and Oak Bay was accepted by Greater Victoria Water Board Wednesday.

It was the lowest of five tenders received and $178,957 below the highest bid.

Other bids were: Baynes, Manning Ltd., $473,092; Manix Ltd., who did the board's last installation job, $483,512; Wood, McCloy Ltd., $514,460; and Dawson, Wade & Co., $626,420. All firms were of Vancouver.

530 Families Added To Allowance Rolls

Another 530 families, with 1,450 children, were added to the Family Allowance rolls in British Columbia during March, according to figures just released by W. R. Bone, regional director of family allowances.

The increase brings to 173,933 the number of families now receiving family allowance cheques in the province. These families have a total of 347,610 children.

A part of the March increase can be attributed to 335 families moving into B.C. from other parts of Canada, Mr. Bone explained. During the same time, 268 families left.

Foster Homes Urgent Need For Victoria Teen-Agers

There is still a great need for foster homes for the teenage group, Miss Mildred Wright, director of Family and Children's Service told a meeting of the board of directors at Spencehouse Tuesday evening.

"We are far short of the required number," she said, "which points up the need for group placements."

"Until such a resource is available there is the danger that some children may have to be moved from one home to another, through no fault of their own, and each additional move may cause a deterioration in personality and character."

Thirteen new applications from prospective foster parents had been made in the past month, Miss Wright said, and there had been five new applications for adoption. Six children were placed on adoption probation.

Social workers made 463 home visits and handled 323 of office interviews in the month. Nine marital problems were handled, eight unmarried mothers assisted, seven families referred for supervision. There are at present 132 wards in care of the service and 109 non-wards. There were 666 cases active during the month and 862 cases carried over from previous month.

FINANCE PICTURE

Financial statement presented by R. R. Wilde showed total receipts for the month of $10,303.03 and disbursements $12,900.56.

Clothing for children cost $519.26; medical, dental and optical supplies, $313.68; foster home payments were $4,383.81 and receiving home, $250. Financial assistance to clients amounted to $80.44.

R. Davis reporting on Sunshine Camp said a work party had gone out to the site last Sunday and prepared and seeded a bowling and croquet lawn, the seed supplied by the women's auxiliary. Sponsors of the camp are to be invited to an inspection party on Sunday, May 3.

Annual meeting of the Family and Children's Service was set for Monday, April 20, in the Business and Professional Women's Clubroom, 904 Government Street, at 8.
